Gen. MacArthur Reports Huge Korean Refugee Problem

Korean Refugee Problem Grows Greater Daily

Whole Population Of North Korea Would Move South

(BULLETIN)

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Feb. 24.—(INS)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported to the United Nations today that virtually the entire population of North Korea would have fled across the 38th Parallel to escape Communist oppression if given the opportunity.

In a summary of operations covering the period from December 15, 1950 to January 15, 1951, the supreme commander of U.N. forces in Korea also said that during the first two weeks of January, Allied war planes carried out the heaviest attacks of the war.

MacArthur disclosed that the air arm completed 200 consecutive days of operations and made their 100,000th "sortie" during this period.

With regard to the flight of civilians from Communist-dominated North Korea, Gen. MacArthur said:

"The refugee problem is growing daily. More than a million refugees are pouring past the U.N. lines into South Korea.

"There is little doubt that given the opportunity, practically the entire North Korean population would have migrated to the south in search of sanctuary."

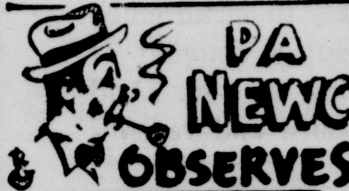

Gen. MacArthur said that swarms of refugees filled the roads impeding the movement of U.N. troops and supplies, while enemy agents have slipped past in disguise.

He added: "Enemy troops can approach our positions, concealed in masses of refugees and immune from air attack."

Intensive Air Attack
In the section of his report to the world organization on aerial activity, Gen. MacArthur said that "intensive and uninterrupted" air support was provided for United Nations ground troops, while enemy tanks and artillery were the main targets of heavy assault.

North of the battle line, Gen. MacArthur reported, enemy air forces were kept under continued attack.

Gen. MacArthur said that the (Continued on Page Two)

Senate May Refuse New Term To R.F.C. Chairman

By CHARLES B. SEIB
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The Senate may answer President Truman's latest countermove in the probe of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation by refusing to permit a new term for the chairman of the billion dollar lending agency.

The prediction came from Senators who sparked the feud between Capitol Hill and the White House with their investigation of charges that sure-fire "influence" with the RFC was put up for sale by a group that included Mr. Truman's personnel adviser.

They described the President's order "stripping" RFC files of letters of advice on loans written by congressmen as a "counter-attack." It will bring an indignant retaliation they said in the form of Senate refusal to confirm W. Elmer Harber for a new term as loan agency chairman.

A high administration source has disclosed that the President hoped to keep Harber as head of the huge agency under a reorganization plan putting it under one (Continued on Page Two)

Crime Probe In New York State To Be Expanded

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—(INS)—The senate crime investigating committee plans to look into the payroll records of the New York state legislature in its expanding inquiry into state and New York City politics.

Chief Committee Counsel Rudolph Halley, in making the announcement in New York, said that the Kefauver group is "interested in what recent appointments were made." The investigators will be in Albany Tuesday to question several witnesses about gambling in Saratoga Springs. At that time they also are expected to look into the legislative payroll records.

Hearings In March
The committee, headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D. Tenn.), will open hearings in New York City early in March.

Halley said that he has had a two hour conversation with State Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi, unsuccessful mayoralty candidate last fall, and that Corsi had given him "a lot of information" about alleged tie-ups between underworld figures and politicians.

He also indicated that he will talk with the mayor and former supreme court justice Ferdinand Pecora, who ran as Democratic candidate for mayor.

Gives Testimony

WASHINGTON—Mrs. Donald Dawson, wife of Presidential assistant and top supervisor of RFC files, testified before Senate Banking subcommittee investigating RFC, that she had prepared copies of letters congressmen have written the RFC regarding loans and turned them over to an RFC official. He in turn delivered them to Donald S. Dawson at the White House.

Report Lifeboat Is Sighted In Pacific With Men Aboard

(BULLETIN)

TOKYO, Feb. 24.—(INS)—The air force reported today that a lifeboat with an undetermined number of crewmen from the sunken Norwegian cargo ship Florentine was sighted today 275 miles southwest of two Jima.

The report came from the 19th Bomb Wing based on Guam, the sighting was made at 3 p.m. Tokyo Time (1 a.m. EST).

Capt. C. C. Kearney, pilot of the bomber, said he saw men moving in the lifeboat but was unable to count the number aboard. Twelve men were believed adrift in the lifeboat shortly after the Florentine sank Tuesday.

The master and 20 other crewmen were rescued by another ship a few hours later. A B-29 was immediately dispatched to the scene to drop an additional lifeboat with rations and medicine. The Navy tug Takelma also was dispatched to the scene.

Final Action On Primary Date Likely Monday

Measure Designating July 24 As Date Is Expected To Be Passed

HARRISBURG, Feb. 24.—(INS)—Legislation designating July 24 as the 1951 primary election date and limiting absentee voting to members of the armed forces will be up for final action Monday when the general assembly reconvenes.

The measure as it passed the Senate switched the primary date from September 18 and set up voting procedure for servicemen and women.

The House adopted the proposal after inserting the provision limiting it to armed forces personnel and asked the upper chamber to concur.

If the Senate insists on the original version and the House refuses to accept the proposal minus the amendment the measure will be handed to a conference committee composed of three members from each chamber with orders to resolve the impasse.

First Legislation
Should the House draft be accepted by the Senate and adopted it will be the first major piece of legislation to be sent Gov. John S. Fine during the 1951 session.

So far, not one dissenting voice has been cast against the proposal in either House.

The state elections bureau is anxious for adoption of a soldier vote law and the official designation of a primary date so that election machinery can be set in motion and a schedule of filing dates completed.

The bill, co-sponsored by Republican Senators Murray B. Peeler, Indiana, and Albert R. Pechan, Armstrong, would enable members of the armed forces to participate in the election of a president and other officials in 1952.

Maj. Gen. Moore Dies In Korea After Crash

By LEE FERRERO
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Feb. 25.—(Sunday)—Maj. Gen. Bryant T. Moore, U. S. Ninth Corps commander died Saturday following a helicopter crash into the Han river. His death tentatively was ascribed to a heart attack.

Reports from the scene of the crash said that the high-ranking corps commander collapsed after he "walked away" from the wrecked aircraft shortly after it plunged into the rain-swollen stream.

Directly Under Ridgway
As Ninth Corps commander, Moore was directly under Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Eighth Army commander, and one of the four top-ranking generals in Korea. The other two are Maj. Gen. Frank W. Milburn and Lt. Gen. E. M. Almond, who head the First and 10th Corps, respectively.

Moore, one of the few army general officers who served in both the Pacific and European theaters during the second world war, was born June 6, 1894 in Ellsworth, Me.

Thirty-three years after he graduated from West Point in 1917 as a second lieutenant, Moore returned to the historic academy as its commanding officer, a post once held by Gen. MacArthur.

In the interim his brilliant record netted him a chestful of decorations. More than half a dozen of them were awarded by the United States and other nations for his outstanding service in World War Two.

They include the Silver Star with Cluster and the Distinguished Service Cross—two of America's highest awards—as well as the British Distinguished Service Order, the French Legion of Honor and Croix De Guerre and the Italian Order of St. Lazarus.

Governor Dewey Gives Ideas On Sending Troops

Sharply Differs With Hoover, Taft, Wherry On Troops For Europe

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(INS)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey told congress today that Spain and Yugoslavia should be brought into the effort to save the free world from Communism regardless of the nature of their governments.

The New York governor also told the senate foreign relations and armed service committee in his first congressional appearance that Greece had offered a half-million men if the United States will equip them.

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey told Congress today that adoption of the Wherry anti-troops resolution would "paralyze" the nation's defense and inform the world that "the United States has hauled down its flag."

The New York governor, sharply differing with Republicans Hoover, Taft and Wherry on foreign policy, called the opposition to sending ground troops to Europe a "little toe-hold of isolationism" which should be rejected.

Dewey, in his first congressional appearance, declared that "Europe is a powerful toe-hold."

Plans All-Out Offensive On Soaring Living Costs

By WILLIAM J. KERWIN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Defense mobilizer Wilson promised the nation an all-out offensive on soaring living costs last night and asked the country to unite behind a 150 billion dollar defense program geared for "all-out war or all-out peace."

Wilson, declaring that "we can hardly expect a worker to see his wages frozen without complaint when his wife tells him that the food bill is going up each week," hinted that the administration may seek law changes to hold the cost of living within bounds.

He told a nationwide radio audience that America's productive capacity is so great and its economy "so healthy" that rearmament (Continued on Page Two)

Modification Of Wage Formula May Be Urged

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Labor sources believe today that Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston may send the controversial 10 percent pay increase formula back to the wage stabilization board with recommendations for its modification.

Johnston is expected to act by Monday on the proposal adopted a week ago by public and industry members of the board, over labor's protest, to relax the January 25 wage freeze.

May Alter Formula
Some alterations in the formula appeared almost certain after Defense Mobilizer Wilson's statement that wage policies "are being modified against to conform with the best interests of the entire economy."

Justice Department To Get Names Of Reds In Defense Plants

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(INS)—Chairman Wood (D. Ga.) said today his House Un-American Activities committee expects it will soon turn over to the Justice department the names of Communists employed in defense plants.

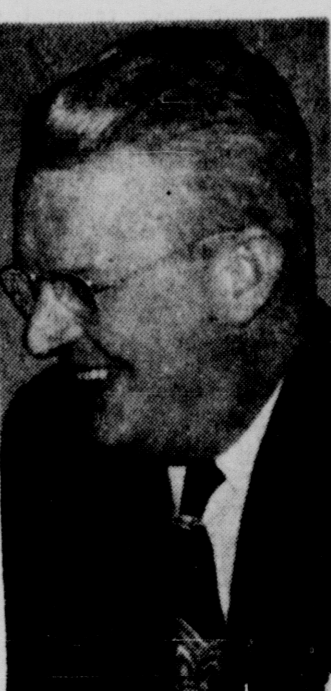

Wood asserted that committee investigators have the names of the Reds and that evidence of their employment in key industries will be brought out at public hearings on Capitol Hill "in the very near future," possibly the next week or two.

Wood said that Communists who have been expelled from the CIO are now being employed in defense industries, including munitions plants. "We regard this as a very serious situation of which the public is too little aware."

The congressman told newsmen that the hearings will cover various areas at a time, "wherever defense plants are located." He added that he considered it "unwise to disclose their locations at this time."

Alec Samuels, chairman of membership of the board of directors of the YMCA expressed great confidence in the ability of Mr. Lamoree to put the drive over the top in this, the Centennial celebration year of the founding of the YMCA's.

For many years Judge Lamoree has been an active civic and community leader, and brings to the position a wealth of experience and ability.

The judge stated that the job of membership organization is moving rapidly forward and that the appointment of division chairmen will be announced in the near future.

The opening banquet for the drive is scheduled for March 15, and the goal this year is 1200 members.

Senator McCarthy Assails Acheson

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 24.—(INS)—Sen. Joseph McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican, thinks Secretary of State Acheson should not only resign, but he should "leave the country" to boot.

McCarthy, in an address before the annual meeting of the Western Pennsylvania Constructors Association in Pittsburgh last night, declared "we must get rid of the entire Yalta crowd—those who sold this country out to Russia—if we are to put an end to international atheistic communism."

Following that, he said, the United States should use the manpower at its disposal, specifically the armies of Chiang Kai-shek and those in western Europe.

Armored Drive Made Through Deserted City

American Division Advances Five Miles Beyond Pyongyang

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(Far Eastern Director, U. N. S.)

TOKYO, Feb. 25.—(Sunday)

—Powerful American armored thrusts of "Operation Killer" smashed into and through Hoengsong Saturday and cut off that shattered central Korean road junction from Communist forces farther east.

One heavily reinforced armored column crashed through the deserted city but ran into a hornet's nest of Reds dug into strong hillside fortifications north of the town.

The task force withdrew south of the city after a three-hour duel but 25 miles to the east armored spearheads of an American division pushed five miles from Pyongyang into the village of Pangnim at the start of the lateral road leading westward to Hoengsong.

At the opposite end of the 60-mile central sector other elements of the six-nation Allied offensive probed east and north but the main lines remained stalled.

"Only Rear Guard Action"

International News Service War Correspondent Robert Schakne said that despite the intensity of the Red resistance, mounted at some points from what appeared to be major staging areas, it "seemed to be only a rear guard action." Schakne added:

"For the moment, at least, the United Nations infantry found the wild Alpine terrain a greater obstacle than the enemy."

"Wooded peaks up to 4,500 feet presented an almost-solid mountain wall to their advance, and the narrow valleys were swept by muddy torrents from the year's first thaw."

It was virtually the same story all along the 60-mile front, where the Reds, holed up in mountain passes and caves, fought tenaciously. (Continued on Page Two)

There's a charm about Monday morning when a fellow begins the week, with a shave and a shine and a press in his pants and hair all curled and sleek. There's a charm in each day as it passes, and everything is going just right, but it seems to me there's an extra charm when it reaches Saturday night. There's a day of rest just before us, and an evening of pleasure and play to relax the nerves from the wear of the week. It's bright, 41 today.

Says Big Postal Deficit Is Caused By Mismanagement

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(INS)

A man who worked his way from letter carrier to a top career job in the postal service says today that the big postal deficit can be charged to post office "mismanagement."

James J. Doran, retired chief postal inspector, said an official report covering operations in the 20 highest American post offices shows that identical services cost as much as 133 per cent more in some cities than in others.

"If the report accurately portrays present conditions and costs in the 20 offices in question," Doran said, "a saving of over 45 million dollars a year could be made in the handling of first class mail alone."

The retired official said he called the discrepancy to the attention of "the present postal management" but that no action was taken. Doran voiced his criticism in an article for "The Postal Record," an AFL union publication.

Doran, who succeeded Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson as chief postal inspector in 1945, said 39,000 second, third and fourth class post offices are responsible for nearly 180 million dollars of the annual postal deficit.

He said these offices have an annual receipts of less than $40,000 each "and could not operate without a postal subsidy." Doran, however, pointed out that these offices are essential to good postal service.

Firemen Auxiliary Plans New Projects

At Union high school Thursday evening the Union Township Volunteer Firemen's Auxiliary gathered for their regular meeting.

Several new members were received into the organization. Unfinished business was disposed of. Mrs. Ed. Donley, chairman of the Ways and Means committee introduced new projects to be undertaken by the auxiliary during the year.

The meeting adjourned and a social period was enjoyed with Mrs. William Hanna and Mrs. C. McCurdy heading the committee. A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Mike Schmidt, Mrs. William Stoner and Mrs. Alfonso Marshall.

Next meeting of the group will be Thursday evening, March 22, place to be announced later.

Urges Negotiations With Soviet Russia

HAVERFORD, Pa., Feb. 24.—

(INS)—Dr. Gilbert F. White, president of Haverford College, today urged direct negotiations with Russia, rather than worldwide armaments race, as the only way of avoiding World War III.

Dr. White declared that "conditions for a settlement between the United States and Russia do exist."

"The armament race," he added, "is no solution to the two nations' problems. The road is clear, leading to negotiations for disarmament."

ice for several days, is performing to halt traffic on Wilmington avenue. But motorists note that there is little traffic entering Wilmington street, while they are stopped at the light.

Many churchgoers about the city will be entering into beautiful, cleaned and redecorated auditoriums by the time Easter Sunday morning arrives. The First Christian church on the Diamond is being done over on the interior while plans are being made for the redecoration of the Pearson street Alliance Tabernacle before Easter. Other churches are negotiating for redecoration work.

Pa Newc notes that additional officers have been placed at strategic locations about the city during rush traffic hours over the few days. The officers are determined to break up traffic bottlenecks which slow traffic down and ties up the downtown section.

City Forester Owen Fox will have quite a task fixing up the shrubbery in city parks which were badly damaged by the severe winter, when spring arrives. The heavy snow bent many evergreens to the ground and caused other damage to the shrubbery about the city parks.

Many motorists about the district who had their cars damaged in some manner due to icy streets, are evidently waiting to see if the hard winter weather is really over or whether a recurrence of badly bent fenders and damaged bodies are seen on the vehicles traveling through the district.

most significant event of the war early in January was "the enemy carrying its attack below the 38th Parallel."

The commander said that censorship was placed on Korean War news dispatches "in order to avoid the premature publication of information which might be helpful to the enemy."

Gen. MacArthur said that shelter, food and clothing constitute the most critical supply items for the refugees and concluded by saying that no contagious diseases of epidemic proportions exist in areas controlled by the U.N.

can be accomplished and the U. S. living standard restored to its 1950 high within a few years.

Although shortages in arms and equipment will continue for at least another year, he said "we are establishing a production capacity of 35,000 tanks a year and intend to be able to produce 19,000 jet engines a month."

Touching on the bitter wage ceiling controversy that has divided organized labor from support of the defense mobilization plans, Wilson said the economic framework for rearmament "will be solved with justice to consumers, wage earners and farmers alike."

The mobilization chief termed the problem of rising food costs "one of the most difficult in the whole field of economic stabilization."

Present mobilization law, however, permits the cost of food to rise until farmers receive "parity prices"—levels set by congress as a "fair return" to the nation's food producers.

Speaking to the people of the nation, Wilson said:

"Your government will do its best to see that no one is going to profiteer out of taxpayers' money in this defense effort. Nobody—I said nobody—is going to profiteer without suffering the consequences of the law. We are going to try to make the life of the chisel both unprofitable and downright painful."

The former head of the huge General Electric Co. said curtailments in the civilian use of metals needed for arms and equipment will only be temporary.

man rule. That plan is now before Congress.

Sent To White House

In the investigation session yesterday, Mrs. Donald Dawson, keeper of RFC files and wife of Mr. Truman's personnel adviser, testified that photo-copies of the congressmen's letters were sent to the White House.

Later, the President's press secretary, Joseph Short, confirmed that Mr. Truman had asked for the letters for his "examination and review." But he said the President "sees no useful purpose" in making the correspondence public.

Sen. Capehart (R) Ind., said that he felt Harber's performance "kills his chances for confirmation." Sen. Bennett (R) Utah, commented that it "lessens his chances greatly."

Sen. Tobey (R) N. H., said that "his chances are nil." And chairman Fulbright (D) Ark., merely laughed and said: "What do you think?"

The testimony about the letters interrupted for a time the subcommittee's investigations of the activities of E. Meri Young, a presidential campaign aide and husband of a White House secretary.

Young has been accused in subcommittee testimony of setting an $85,000 price tag on his influence with RFC directors. He has told the subcommittee that he plans to ask Democratic National Chairman William Boyle to support his denial of the charge.

GOV. DEWEY IDEAS ON SENDING TROOPS DIFFER

It represents the last gasp of effort which speaks for a school of thought which basically would like to withdraw from all the world to our own shores."

At no point in his 4,000-word prepared statement did the twice-defeated Republican presidential candidate refer to other GOP leaders by name although his views contrasted with those of Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, and former President Hoover.

Dewey made it clear that his opposition to the resolution of Sen. Wherry (R) Neb., did not imply his approval of the administration's foreign policy in general, or its domestic proposals.

The governor said:

Would Be Unwise

"I oppose it on the broad grounds that its adoption would be unwise in the extreme and would paralyze the capacity of this nation for its own defense."

"It would discourage and probably terminate the present virile effort developing in Europe for its own defense. It would certainly invite imperialist Communism to move into the vacuum we thus created."

Dewey, testifying before the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees, held up a list of 71 critical materials which he warned would ultimately be lost if Europe is lost.

He declared it to be a "simple fact that our industry would grind to a halt and we would be absolutely defenseless in this world" without these materials.

Rejects Proposal

The Republican governor bluntly rejected the idea that Europe might be allowed to "try Communism and then get rid of it." He said:

"The difficulty is that no people in modern times have succeeded in revolting against the machine guns and tanks of a well-established dictatorship. You do not take a sip of Communism as a nation and then decide whether you want to drink anymore or not. Once you get it you are lost."

Dewey emphasized that in his opinion Congress "probably has the power by act or resolution to forbid the use of our armed forces anywhere." But he said:

"If this resolution should be adopted it would be taken in every capital in the world, both free and slave, as a signal that the United States has hauled down its flag."

He said it would mean to the world that America believed the rest of the world to be "indefensible or not worth defending and that we had retreated into fortress America."

In memory of our beloved husband and father, Lawrence Fontanelli who passed away 3 years ago February 25, 1948.

"There is a path in the garden where he used to walk, And a rose bush blooming, I wish it could talk: His garden had roses, they bloomed Oh so fair, I can still see him standing and watching them there; Now daddy is gone, but he will live through the years When the rose petals fall like our own bitter tears."

ARMORED DRIVE THROUGH CITY

ciously with heavy and accurate fire against the new UN drive.

A front dispatch at 8 p. m. (6 a. m. EST) from the Chipyong sector, 19 miles west of Hoengsong, said Britons and Canadians were battling an estimated Red battalion in that area "where American tank-infantry patrols probed ahead but the lines remained static."

Made By Armored Column

International News Service War Correspondent Frank Conniff reported that the thrust through Hoengsong, 10 miles north of Wonju, was made by a reinforced armored column. It included an over-strength infantry company supported by a full company of tanks and engineers.

This formidable striking force first entered the town at 9:30 a. m. and later encountered the Chinese fire some distance to the north. An Eighth Army communique, lagging behind front dispatches, reported at 8:30 p. m. the patrol entered the town "with no enemy contact."

The communique also announced "limited gains on the right flank of the central eastern front."

Field dispatches reported that in this area UN troops pushed five miles north of Pongchang to within 35 miles of the 38th parallel and also encountered heavy Red counterattacks.

Find Elaborate Preparations

The advancing Americans found evidence that the Communists in this area had made elaborate preparations, apparently for their ill-starred counteroffensive which was smashed 10 days ago at Chipyong and Wonju.

Field reports said five new bridges had been built across the Pongchang river and its tributaries, about one every three miles from the town of Pongchang for a distance of 15 miles to the north.

The pilot of a B-26 night intruder reported after a strike against Kyecheon, eight miles northwest of Pongchang, that "the whole darn village blew up with a tremendous explosion."

This led intelligence officers to believe a major ammunition dump crammed with unused shells for the abortive Red offensive had been hit.

Drop 210 Tons Of Bombs

In other air action Okinawa-based Superforts dropped 210 tons of bombs on northwest Korea in what was officially termed an effort "to prevent the enemy from moving supplies down from Manchuria to the battle area."

Flying Box Cars exceeded this total tonnage by dropping over 315 tons of ammo, rations, medicines and other supplies to UN troops.

This brought the total for Friday and Saturday to 585 tons—the biggest airlift in weeks. It was made necessary because of the near-impossibility of supplying the front-line troops over the gauged mires made of Korea's roads by the current thaw.

The mud was about as effective as the enemy in cutting down the momentum of the six-nation Allied drive. The main Red counter-thrusts were for the most part ambush-type actions from strong defense positions.

They came both north and west of Hoengsong as well as in the Chipyong and Pongchang sectors.

Appeals Fine For Pigeons Flying Inside Her Home

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 24.—

(INS)—Mrs. Laura Elliott of Philadelphia insisted today she has a perfect right to have pigeons "flying in the belfry" of her home if she so chooses.

Appealing a $50 fine imposed because she permitted pigeons to fly inside her house, Mrs. Elliott denied "harboring" the birds.

She said she was merely being kind to them—a pleasure that relieved her loneliness.

The gray-haired widow asked a Philadelphia judge to support her contention that she has a right to leave the bedroom windows of her home open so the pigeons may feed on the window sills.

The Bureau of Health claims Mrs. Elliott violated the sanitation code by permitting the pigeons to fly inside the house.</

Sees Method Of Avoiding Many Of Marriage Problems

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 24.—(INS)—A lot of marriage problems would be avoided if newlyweds realized they are four persons instead of two.

Frances T. Levinson, a New York family expert, to a meeting of the Jewish family and children's service in Pittsburgh yesterday said that it is a simple matter of sociological arithmetic.

"There are four people in every marriage," she said. "They are the idealized picture the man has of the woman; the idealized picture the woman has of the man; and the two real figures."

"It is only when these four figures merge into two that the marriage adjustment is put on a firm foundation," she explained.

The trouble with "problem children," she asserted, may be "problem parents."

Miss Levinson traced the origins of family service to the biblical commandments to "honor thy father and thy mother" and "to respect your neighbor."

Slash In Use Of Non-Defense Rubber Ordered March 1

(BULLETIN)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(INS)—The government today ordered a 2,000-ton slash in the monthly allotment of natural rubber from non-defense purposes and plans next week to prohibit its use in some civilian products.

The National Production Authority, which issued the directive effective March 1, gave assurances that the cutback in natural rubber will be offset by increasing synthetic production.

The order was the first mobilization action after Defense Mobilization Wilson promised the nation last night an offensive on soaring living costs and asked Americans to unite behind a 150-billion dollar defense program geared for "all out war or all out peace."

Demands By Winston Churchill

The lack of perfect harmony among western nations in their efforts to build a mighty barrier against communist aggression was emphasized sharply today by Winston Churchill's demand that Great Britain be acknowledged mistress of the seas in the defense set-up.

Britain's wartime prime minister vigorously attacked the nomination of Vice Admiral William M. Fechteler of the U. S. navy as supreme sea commander of the North Atlantic defense organization.

Churchill made it clear that he was not attacking Fechteler personally and stressed that he is not "hostile" to the United States.

But the rafter of the House of Commons rang with his indignant demands to know why Britain has—as he termed it—"fallen so far into the hands of the humiliators" and his acid question:

"Isn't there a British admiral capable of discharging these functions?"

U. S. Mightiest Fleet
Churchill did not deny the fact that the United States fleet, built and building, is the mightiest in the world.

But his mind was on Drake and Nelson and all the great British commanders of the first and second world wars when he spoke of his country's gallant history on the seas.

He made a particular point of the fact that in World War II, the royal navy sank 525 German U-boats, while the American fleet accounted for 17.

Churchill's defense of Britain's right to command the seas is understandable.

His custom of signing his famous letters to President Roosevelt as "former naval person" is now part of history.

He was first lord of the admiralty for certain periods in both world wars.

He always looks at his best in a naval cap and cloak and traditionally maintains the greatest pride in what Britain calls the "senior service."

Churchill's affection for the navy is, of course, shared by the people of the British Isles to whom salt water is an integral part of life. Despite economies necessitated by post-war economies, the proud white ensign of the navy is still to be seen fluttering.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

ABOUT ALL
A kiss at the door for farewell and hello,
Delight in the eyes as you come
and you go,
Life has little much better than that to bestow.

A child or two racing to meet you
half-way,
To jump in your arms at the close of the day
Is a much truer tribute than flatterers pay.

A few friends to visit; a few friends to call;
To comfort and aid if disaster
should fall;
Who has these for a lifetime has just about all.

They Say

LONDON—Winston Churchill, "Why, when our experience is longer and wider than that of any country and when we have agreed to Gen. Eisenhower as land commander, should we have to resign claims to command of the sea?"

WASHINGTON—Economic Stabilization Chief Eric Johnston, "I think only a board in which voices of labor, management and the public can be heard is suitable in a democracy."

NEW YORK—Elder Statesman Bernard Baruch, "The task of preserving peace is vast enough to enlist the resources and energies of all democratic peoples."

VALLEY FORGE, Pa.—Gen. Omar Bradley, "The American people, for all their strength and abundant charity, need guidance, courage and inspiration."

State Police Say:

The State Police recommend that at the conclusion of all public meetings, service club groups, PTA meetings, grange meetings, athletic contests, etc., the person in charge terminate such meetings with a word on safe driving. We believe that by constantly reminding our drivers that safety is a full time responsibility we can materially reduce our traffic accident frequency rate.

From Me To You

By MESEFALL

Oh what a beautiful morning . . . oh what a beautiful day . . . I've got wonderful feeling that everything is going my way. Well, that's the gist of a popular song . . . and with such a clear bright day (at least the start was) it seemed very apropos to get the thinking machine going brightly.

Yesterday was not too clear and bright . . . and even if it had been . . . those of us who live in a densely populated area would not have known it . . . And maybe those in the downtown and near by circle won't know that today was sunny and clear . . . Yes, you guessed it . . . too many impurities in the air.

We spend millions of dollars each year in the United States to purify drinking water . . . We have stringent laws governing the process food industry. Our sewer systems are complicated and expensive . . . we as a people . . . spend billions of dollars buying drugs to keep healthy . . . Hadacol and the rest (what ever happened to Lydia Pinkham?).

Yet, we let ourselves breathe air that is laden with impurities . . . Not only does it fill our lungs with dust and black dirt . . . but it ruins billions of dollars worth of clothing and household furnishings . . . and when a law is mentioned that would purify the air . . . there are people who stand right up and raise the roof. WHY?

Smoke abatement as it is called in some communities seems to carry a nasty tag . . . while in others, it is regarded as next to religion. Smoke in the air is costly . . . not only in health (which would seem enough) but in the waste of fuel . . . damage to soft goods and real estate we stated above. With the cooperation of we citizens . . . New Castle could enjoy purer air . . . Interested? Write your city officials and the GNCA (your civic organization) and let your willingness to help be known.

Gangster Doings Revealed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Of all the sordid, sinister business uncovered by the Senate crime investigating committee, high on the list comes the story furnished by Detroit recently showing how gangsters were employed by certain firms to bring aliens into the country and to break strikes. Gangster witnesses showed extraordinary arrogance, often defying the committee and laughing at the obvious absurdity of their own evasions and denials.

One of the witnesses was Harry Bennett, who formerly held a key position with the Ford Motor Co. Bennett, now living on a luxurious ranch at Desert Hot Springs in California, was asked numerous questions about his acquaintance with well-known hoodlums, and particularly about the recruiting of a goon squad at the time Ford was resisting unionization by the United Auto Workers. Bennett, whose connection with the company ended shortly after Henry Ford II took over, was vague in most of his replies.

Rumors have long persisted about the power of gangsters controlling the numbers racket as it operated among employees of the big motor companies. One theory behind the thus far unsolved mystery of the attempted assassination of Walter Reuther, head of the UAW, and his brother, Victor, was that they had tried to keep numbers racketeers from preying on UAW members.

Dismissed Charges
Not long ago Federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts dismissed contempt charges against a hoodlum who had pleaded self-incrimination when he appeared before the Kefauver committee. This was on constitutional grounds. On charges of contempt growing out of their refusal to answer questions as to membership in the communist party, 60 witnesses, largely before the House un-American activities committee, have been convicted and sent to prison.

They did not plead self-incrimination to give blanket absolution, the efforts of the Kefauver committee will be gravely handicapped.

Whatever the final outcome, whether in legal action or in future legislation, the airing of this miserable business has been healthy. The hearings in Detroit were televised with great skill and thoroughness and on the television screen in several hundred thousand homes these figures out of the gangland were seen in all their arrogant indifference to the processes of law. Photographs of their expensive homes were also shown. Thus the cost of this traffic in corruption was brought home to the citizen who in the last analysis pays the bill.

Little Or Nothing Done
Apparently the Bureau of Internal Revenue has done little or nothing about these returns. In another era the intelligence unit of the bureau worked tirelessly to nail down the evidence against big spending gangsters with the result that Al Capone and a host of others went to jail.

Licavoli was questioned about his acquaintance with Senator Homer Capehart of Indiana. He admitted knowing him but denied that he had asked Capehart to intervene in behalf of Frank Cammarata who had been deported and had illegally entered the country again. The committee counsel then put a telegram to Cammarata in the record signed "Ray A. Donaldson, administrative assistant to Senator Capehart," saying Cammarata had been given a 90-day stay and it would therefore be unnecessary for him to appear in New York.

A similar contract for hauling scrap was given to Carl Renda by

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A Tub-thumping evangelist, having scared three quarters of a deep Southern Community into repenting every sin they had committed and numerous others they had never heard of, consented to visit the abode of Sister Johnson for refreshments. She left him alone a moment in the parlor, and when she returned found him frowning severely.

"Sister," he thundered, "even the appearance of evil should be avoided. For instance, you have here on your sideboard several decanters, each partially filled with what appears to be intoxicating liquor."

"But it isn't liquor," quavered Sister Johnson. "The bottles look so nice on the sideboard, I fill them halfway with furniture polish for the effect."

"Exactly," pursued the evangelist. "You must avoid the appearance of evil. Feeling a trifle faint, I helped myself to a wee nip from the decanter in the center."

THERMOMETER SAVES ROAST

Roasts shrink excessively if they are cooked for too long a time, say meat authorities. To save both meat and flavor, they recommend the use of a meat thermometer to indicate when a roast is cooked to exactly the right doneness. A non-breakable thermometer made entirely of stainless steel is easy to use. It has a pointed stem which can be pressed directly into the thickest part of the roast. A round, clock-type face shows the proper temperatures for cooking lamb, veal, beef and pork to the desired doneness.

Why Be So Gloomy?

By PAUL GALLICO

My fellow countrymen!

Cheer up!

Things are tough. They are going to get tougher. Those nasty Reds are fixing to take all our pretty toys away. We won't have any more new television sets, washing machines, phonographs, radios, automobiles, refrigerators, toasters, broilers, golf balls, and a million and one gadgets, or at least not enough to go around.

I know, I know! We were just about to come into the so-called full life where everybody would have prosperity and an automatic household. We were all to be on wheels, or in the air and existence was to be just one never-ending electronic party. So now we know it isn't going to be that way. So everybody's dauber is down.

It Isn't Like You

So what! So it isn't like you. As long as there is sunshine and rain, blue skies and the wondrous imaginative pile-up of clouds in the sky, crisp days, snowflakes against the cheek and the coming of spring not too far off and which even the Reds cannot turn back, why so glum? You mean you're the kind of guy or dame who needs gadgets to be happy? Come now, you don't expect me to believe that.

All right. Your neighbor has a television set and you haven't. And maybe they won't be able to make 'em any more. That's got you down. What are you going to do with your leisure hours? A killer, isn't it? Brighten up, chum. There are still books.

Books don't flicker. Books go in through the eyes just like TV, but they spread around more inside and light up the mind and the soul. And your own imagination is the production manager when you read them. You cast, costume and stage them yourself. You can even act them if you want to take the trouble to read out loud to your family. And you can play ALL the parts.

No Comparable Thrill

The world is down, everything is going to pot, but there is still no thrill comparable with seeing a pretty girl and pretending how it would be if she were your pretty girl. That production line never shuts down. Oh, I get it. You're unhappy because comes war production there'll be an end to pop-up electric toasters.

Looka! I am the last one to decry the boon to civilization brought by the pop-up electric toaster. I could write reams in praise of this fabulous invention. But no toaster, NO toaster. You and I are going to live, kid, if nothing worse happens to us. AND have toast.

Recipe: Take six pieces of bread lay them on the broiling pan and shove into the oven. Toast on one side, lightly. Turn when brown and toast on the other side, fully. Turn again, and butter the lightly toasted side. Push back under the broiler and toast until golden brown and butter has melted. Q.E.D.! Six pieces of hot buttered toast all at once. Your pop-up toaster never managed to do that for you. Oh, so you had to work at it five minutes yourself. That kills you, eh? Brother!

Doesn't Stop Friendship

War production doesn't stop friendship, a handclasp, laughter, birds singing, or sunsets. Brooks still gurgles their songs and you can listen to the rain drumming on the roof or the windwhistle. Maybe you can't get an electric mixer, but you can get a seed into the earth, tend it and watch it and from it a flower will grow and that is a better and more satisfying miracle than man has ever made.

The old radio will last you. And if it should fold, there is still the morning newspaper with all the news and comment on the news. And the commercials too. Only it doesn't sing them at you. A lot of people still like their newspapers best.

Shortages, rationing, restrictions—nobody ever got killed by that. Nobody ever even got hurt by it. Eat less, drink less, drive less and maybe you'll live a little longer. What's there to wear such a long face about just because we can't sell everything we'd like, or buy everything we crave? The ocean will still be there; so will the country, the lakes, the woods and the mountains. And on a hot summer's night in the city, no one can legislate against your sitting out on the stoop after dark, having a smoke and chatting with your neighbor.

And you've still got your freedom, bub. How'd you like to have nothing like the Russians, the Chinese, the Bulgars, the Albanians, the Rumanians and the rest of the Red satellites, and be a slave in the bargain, browbeaten, badgered and in constant danger of kidnapping, forced labor or violent death at the hands of Commissars or secret police?

Buck up, friends. Cut out the sulks. Let's act like men, not like children. There's still fresh, free air to breathe. Breathe it and smile! (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

A reader, who signs herself only "Mrs. K. of Charlotte, N. C.," is very much incensed, and sends me a clipping to show why.

It is a dispatch from Tokyo, telling that a silk tapestry portrait of Buddha is on the way to New York and will be presented to the United Nations. It will be hung in the new U.N. headquarters building.

The portrait is a gift from the Japanese Buddhists, an organization representing millions of Japanese who want to express their gratitude to the United Nations for the generous help they have been getting since the close of the war.

"Now what do you think of them hanging a portrait of Buddha in the U.N.?" she asks. "Do you suppose they would accept a picture of Christ, too?"

I don't know, Mrs. K., but I don't see why not.

In the first place the U.N. is made up of many nations of many different creeds and ideologies.

What difference does it make what the portrait actually shows? It is the spirit of the thing that counts, much more so than the subject.

Furthermore, nothing can happen at the United Nations that is any queerer or stranger than the things that have already happened there.

So don't let us get excited about as unimportant a matter as that.

A portrait of Buddha in the U.N. building certainly is not as queer as the 23 plaques of "great lawgivers" adorning the remodeled House Chamber in Washington's Capitol.

There is Thomas Jefferson, and there is George Mason, author of the Virginia Declaration of Rights.

So far, so good. There may also be justification for the plaques of Moses, Blackstone and Solon, although it seems to me that they should have used only Americans in the American Congress.

But why Lycurgus? True, he was a great law-giver.

But what was the constitution he devised? It created two kinds controlled by a Senate. It confined the native race of Lacedaemonians to the pursuits of trade, commerce and agriculture, the Helots, or slaves, to all menial employments which a freeman would consider a disgrace. The Spartans became the warriors of the State. It is that sort of class differentiation a shining example to American lawmakers?

Then there is a plaque of Justinian, who was responsible for the Justinian Civil Code.

Of him the Encyclopedia Americana says: "He so flattered the Senate and dazzled the people that he was made consul, and took the title 'Nobilissimus'."

I wonder whether whoever put THAT plaque in there did so with tongue in cheek.

Then there is Edward I. who was called the "English Justinian."

A great guy, sure enough, but look at this note in my encyclopedia: "His frequent expeditions to raise money at length produced great discontent among the nobles and people also."

Maybe those plaques belong there after all!

Around Hollywood

By JAMES PADGITT
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 24.—Bob Hope appears as a Romeo on the screen for the first time in "My Favorite Spy" and makes love to no less than ten women, including gorgeous Hedy Lamarr.

Bob plays a dual role in the picture. He is cast both as an American burlesque comedian and a European spy, only link to a German scientist who possesses a piece of microfilm containing a short cut to the hydrogen bomb.

Shot As Spy
Bob, as the spy, is shot on the eve of his departure for Tangier. U. S. secret service officials talk the burlesque comic into taking the spy's place. The foreign agent is supposed to be a very romantic fellow and he must sweep such beauties as Hedy, Iris Adrian and Suzanne Dalbert off their feet.

"It's a wonderful part," says Hope. "Errol Flynn should see this picture and get some pointers from me. He might learn a thing or two."

This is the picture that is supposed to be Hedy's swan song in Hollywood, at least that is what she announced some time back. However, few people in the industry take her remarks seriously. Hedy, herself, clams up when she is asked if she really meant what she said.

MAKE DAILY CHECKS
The movie bigwigs make daily checks on the Las Vegas gambling casinos as to how the watering is going on the academy awards.

Jose Ferrer is the favorite for the best actor Oscar and "All About Eve" is the odds-on favorite for the best picture.

Only uncertainty is in the best actress category with Bette Davis ("All About Eve") and Gloria Swanson ("Sunset Boulevard") both being 2½-to-one favorites.

Eleanor Parker for "Cage of Gold" is a 5-to-1 choice. Judy Holliday ("Born Yesterday") is next with 10-to-1. Anne Baxter trails (also for "All About Eve") at 30-to-1.

HAIR RAISING TALES
Rhonda Fleming, John Payne and Forrest Tucker are back on it.

the Paramount lot with hair-raising tales about Florida weather after locationing at Weekiwachee Springs for Pine-Thomas "Cross-winds".

The company encountered the worst weather Florida has experienced in years, including sub-freezing temperatures and high winds. Rhonda wearing a light sarong, emoted one day in a small boat on the Homosassa river when the temperature was at the 24-degree mark.

Much of the picture's action takes place under water, diving for treasure in a crashed airplane supposedly off the coast of New Guinea.

Dance Band Leader Pleads Guilty To Extortion Charge

LANCASTER, Pa., Feb. 24.—(INS)—A 36-year-old dance band leader who faces federal charges of sending obscene letters through the mails on Friday pleaded guilty to an attempt to extort $5000 from a Lancaster widow.

Monroe Wike, of Lancaster, father of three children, was sentenced to three years in jail and fined $1000 after he entered his plea in Lancaster county court. The prosecution said he had threatened to burn the house of Mrs. Grant B. Stauffer if she didn't pay him the money.

The court was informed that Wike has entered a guilty plea with the federal court at Philadelphia to 12 charges of mailing obscene letters. He will be sentenced later.

MOM ASKS POP
CHICAGO.—It's a woman's privilege to change her mind, but she apparently consults her family before she changes her hairdo. A survey of married women by the State Street Council raised a question of how they wear their hair. It showed that 46 per cent wore it short and 13 per cent long. But it also brought out that the great majority of them wore it the way their husbands and children liked it.

Hungarian Actress Escapes To U.S. Occupation Zone

SALZBURG, Feb. 24.—(INS)—Beautiful Hungarian actress Karin Karady, banned from the Budapest stage by the Communists, said today she made her final "iron curtain" call and escaped to the American occupation zone in Austria by playing her way westward in "one-night stands."

Miss Karady, Hungary's answer to Rita Hayworth, arrived in Salzburg along with another refugee, radio crooner Oliver Lantos. The two said they worked their way to the Austrian frontier by making one-night appearances in small towns in the provinces. They said they trudged about 50 miles through rain and mud and past Communist patrols before reaching the border and safety in the American zone Thursday night.

Miss Karady, once one of Hungary's most popular actresses, was sentenced to death by the Nazis during the war for hiding underground leaders. She was liberated by the Russian armies in 1945 but was banished from Budapest later because of anti-Communist sentiments.

Lantos, who is engaged to New York actress Hanna Hertendel, also was under Communist surveillance before he played along on the "one-night stands" to freedom.

Poor Sport

Though we don't always live up to expectations, we in the United States pride ourselves on being good sports. From their early years children, and boys especially, are supposed to be good losers and generous winners.

Sometimes we parents forget that it takes time for a child to learn to be a good sport. Not so William Spence, whose 10-year-old son, Douglas, left a baseball game when he struck out. Though he was chastised, Mr. Spence only spoke quietly to Doug. "What's the matter, fellow? You weren't doing so badly. A lot of the other boys struck out, too." But Doug wouldn't go back into the game.

Instead of berating his son or in other ways trying to make him feel ashamed of himself, Doug's dad suggested they have a game of catch. Before long Doug said, "Thanks, Dad, I guess I'll see whether the guys will let me play again."

From a practical point of view, Mr. Spence's approach is usually the best one. Scolding or shaming a youngster for not being a good sport just makes him feel more upset than he already is and will often stiffen his stubborn refusal to take part in the game. ### FONTANELLE

Susy was very much interested when Mom showed her the soft place in the top of baby's head.

She said that it was a pretty big name for such a small spot. She was afraid to touch it for fear of doing some damage.

The fontanelle will fill in with bone growing in from the edges pretty soon. It will be filled before baby knows that it is there.

Baby is a pretty important member of the community. Pa Newc sees to it that the city water is pure. He takes care that the milk is clean and nourishing.

He has good schools and fine churches all ready. Nothing is too good for baby.

Shenango-Taylor Parent-Teachers Founder's Program

Members of the Shenango-Taylor Parent-Teachers association met Thursday evening in the school building for their February meeting and Founder's Day program.

Mrs. Jacobs led the group in prayer, with business later conducted by the president, Mrs. Minnie Gomulak. Principal of the school, Mrs. Ruth Pitzer, presented an interesting discussion on the progress made in receiving the art goods and playground equipment bought by the PTA. She also told the group of the Green Pennant safety award that had been awarded to the Shenango-Taylor school for having no accidents during the past month. The unit is also trying to obtain safety signs to put along the road leading to the school to help with the children's safety.

It was announced that the school's PTA will have charge of the program at the next meeting of the City Council of PTA. Mrs. Pitzer, founder of the present PTA unit, gave a highly informative talk on Founder's Day, stressing several interesting highlights of the past work done by the organization.

Mr. Knapp, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Ann Calafato who spoke on Founder's Day for the PTA as a whole.

As an additional feature of the program, several lovely selections were sung by Bobby Kwiat, accompanied by Beverly Kewell at the piano. Mrs. Bertha Bulisco won the door prize, with Mrs. Pitzer's classes winning the attendance for having the most parents present.

Climaxing the evening, Mrs. Francis Augustine led the group in a "cake walk", with proceeds to be sent to national PTA headquarters.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Jacobs and Mrs. Berkley, with plans made for the next meeting to be held March 8 with "fathers' night" to be observed. A nominating committee will be appointed at the meeting.

Plans Completed For City-Wide Revival Series

With more than 30 churches co-operating, a great city-wide evangelistic program will get under way Monday evening at 7:45 in the Cathedral auditorium. The series will continue over a three-week period with two services each Sunday and noon day meetings in the First Presbyterian church, North Jefferson street.

The local Christian Business Men's committee more than two years ago invited Dr. Hyman J. Appelmann, internationally known evangelist, to the city to conduct such a campaign. Upon his acceptance, work in setting up the campaign was started, with prayer groups being formed to pray for the success of the campaign.

In December, 1950, Rev. George Jones, pastor of the Alliance Gospel Tabernacle, was asked to serve as chairman of the program. After permission was granted by his board, Rev. Jones began an intensive program to set up committees to function in behalf of the campaign. Some 300 men and women have been actively working for the campaign without remuneration.

Headquarters Set Up
Campaign headquarters were set up at The Castleton hotel to facilitate the work and to distribute information concerning Dr. Appelmann and his work. Committees have from time to time presented the report of their work which is on file at the office.

Dr. Appelmann is coming to the city directly from Stockton, Calif., where he closes a campaign on Sunday evening and will reach Youngstown Municipal airport on Monday afternoon. With him will be Rev. John Troy, who will be music director and have charge of the campaign musical program.

Organist for the campaign will be Jerry Renkenberger of Salem, O., while the campaign pianist is Rev. C. Bergerson of Akron. The musical talent for the first week will be Rev. Adam Lutzweiler of Michigan while the last 11 days the Eureka Jubilee Singers of Chicago, Ill., will be present.

In connection with the campaign from services from 12:05 to 12:55 will take place in First Presbyterian church from Tuesday to Friday of each week.

Children's rallies are planned each night after school in the First Presbyterian church, Calvary Tabernacle and the Neighborhood House. Saturday rallies are planned.

ned in the First Presbyterian church. The Saturday night programs will be for the young people, although everyone may attend.

Prior to each service, at 7 p. m., a prayer meeting for all groups will take place in the Cathedral, conducted by competent leaders.

First Methodists Seek $15,000 For Church Repair Fund

Dr. A. Culmer Schultz, pastor of First Methodist church, announced today that the church is starting a repair fund campaign, with an eventual goal of $15,000 sought. The fund will be used in making repairs throughout the entire downtown church edifice.

A dinner meeting launching the fund drive was held in the church dining room with 136 workers assembling to receive instructions. A total of 169 people will be working to reach the goal.

The campaign workers will not seek subscriptions, but hope to have each family responsible for a unit in the repair fund which will amount to $50. Less than one unit and multiples of units will also be sold to the church members.

Sunday, March 4 has been named as loyalty Sunday in the church, when reports will be made and an effort made to reach the goal of $15,000. Work will be started on the church renovation program when funds are received for the work.

Declare Exiles And Refugees Would Fight

By WALLACE HULLETT
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Feb. 24.—Spokesmen for legions of exiled Poles, Yugoslavs and other refugees from iron curtain countries today pledged manpower support for any future war against Communist aggression.

Polish exile military circles said that the fires of freedom still burn brightly in the hearts of their men despite the long years of exile.

A spokesman for General Wladyslaw Anders said that at the present time there are about 180,000 Poles in Britain.

"This figure includes men, women, and children," said the spokesman, "but we could readily count on 70,000 to 80,000 men pledged to fight communism to the death."

"These men have not lost and will not lose their national outlook. Some of them are now, perhaps, too old for military service, but their children are reaching military age and are imbued with the same fire and determination as their parents."

Would Be Fighters
"Most of the exiles are former Polish soldiers and airmen and would not need much training to transform them into real fighting units."

A spokesman at headquarters of exiled King Peter of Yugoslavia confirmed that the ex-king's offer to raise a "division of loyal Yugoslavs" for a United States "foreign legion" in Europe was no idle boast.

The spokesman said: "His Majesty's letter to United States Senator Edwin C. Johnson containing the offer has been broadcast to all free Yugoslavs in Europe and we have had thousands of letters pledging allegiance."

"In Britain alone there are about 12,000 loyal Yugoslavs pledged to fight communism."

"In France, Italy, Germany, Austria there are thousands more draftable men who would be willing to seize the chance to fight communism and restore freedom to Yugoslavia."

"Our exiles in Britain have lost none of their morale."

A spokesman for the Czech refugee committee in London said there are about 3,000 to 3,500 Czech refugees from communism in Britain today.

"Their number is constantly changing as they arrive and depart for freedom overseas. But wherever they go they will always maintain that opposition to communism," he declared.

WAMPUM POSTURE QUEEN — ATTENDANTS

Miss Helen Johnson of Wampum high school was selected "Posture Queen" as a climax of "Posture Emphasizes Personality" week held at the school, when she was crowned at the school on Friday evening.

Her attendants included the Misses Janet Campbell, Marlene Karner, Anne Butler, and Mary Lou Cesarini.

A large crowd witnessed the crowning festivities and a fashion show at the Wampum high school, with several gifts and flowers presented to the queen and her court. "Dream of a Little Old Lady" was the theme of the show, with Mary Jane Vance as the lady. Turning the clock back to 1951 we find her trying to decide what dress to wear to a family reunion. She falls asleep and her dreams are about the many lovely clothes of 1951 that are seen in the show. The show ended with a display of charming formal, with models including Helen Johnson, Mary Lou Santelli, Peggy Grinnen, Gerri Forman, Shirley Hairneger, Anne Butler, Gloria Bennett, Marlene Karner, Margie Miller and Lillian Procopio.

Clever skits were additional features of the program, with the cast including Helen Jay, Janice Marshall, Mary Lou Cesarini, DeLores Thewes, Mary Jane James, Joan Ison, Peggy Karner, Jean Wimer, Leona Rozen, Velma Hall, Helen Cesarini, Peggy Grinnen, Helen Gerlach, Esther Hall, Carol Aielo, Carol Mohr, Pauline Ciro, Lorraine Thewes, and Gloria Bennett. Escorts were Nick Cook, Jack McMillin, Jack Maher, Bob Yeon, and John Novalesi. Mrs. Butler accompanied the entire program at the piano.

Miss Margaret Rishel, director of the show, received a lovely orchid from the group. Miss Anne McMillin assisted with the successful program.

All this is supplemented by reams of copy turned out by newsmen covering Capitol Hill. . . .

The Institute said the benefit covered ordinary policies worth $95,150,000, group policies totaling $27,526,000 and industrial policies worth $26,896,000.

Two Drivers Are Held By Police

Two local men were placed under arrest Friday afternoon by city police, and after examination by Dr. W. A. Womer, were taken before Alderman Jesse Kennedy, where informations, charging them with driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, were sworn out against them.

Ellwood L. Stoddard, of W. Washington street, was arrested on Front street, where he was found seated in his car, which was blocking the street.

Charles R. Cameron, Jr., of Erie avenue, was arrested in the vicinity of Chestnut and Spruce streets, after his car had collided with a station wagon owned by Nicholas Vago, of 618 E. Lutton street.

The arrests were made by Officers Russo and H. L. Richards.

State Session May End In May
Special Meeting May Be Called Later

HARRISBURG, Feb. 24.—(INS)—There is talk among some legislators indicating the 1951 session of the General Assembly may adjourn sine die in May with the understanding that a special meeting will be called later to enact a congressional reapportionment plan. . . . Prior to the opening of the session, there were optimistic predictions of a 10-week long meeting. . . . The cabinet tangle coupled with tardiness in submitting the biennial budget has slowed the legislative process. . . . The special session talk apparently has been prompted by knowledge of the difficulty in reshuffling congressional districts to keep in line with decennial census figures. . . . The vast program still to be considered, in addition to the congressional revision, under which Pennsylvania will lose three seats, has prompted some lawmakers to speculate on a special session. . . . Ten years ago, the legislature failed during the regular session to adopt a congressional reapportionment plan and returned to enact a makeshift affair during the regular session. . . . It was revised along current lines in 1943. . . . So far, the General Assembly has sent only one bill to Governor Fine's desk. . . . During a governor's first legislature, the work customarily is slowed until the budget is presented. . . .

U.S. Military Bases In Japan Pose Problems

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)
TOKYO, Feb. 24.—Discussions of the maintenance of American military bases in Japan after the treaty of peace is signed have raised the historic fear of extra-territoriality among many Japanese.

Informally, many Japanese have sounded out American correspondents with such questions as: Will Japanese courts have jurisdiction over American servicemen stationed in Japan? Will American military areas be off-limits to Japanese? Will American military authorities stationed in Japan after the treaty have any jurisdiction over the Japanese police? Will Japan have true sovereignty as long as foreign armies and navies are based on her islands?

Reluctant To Talk
American authorities now in Japan are reluctant to talk in detail about these questions but American diplomats in Tokyo, speaking in terms of principles, point out that Americans have maintained military establishments in such countries as Great Britain and the Philippines without infringing on the sovereignty of those allies.

Whether or not the British and Filipino arrangements will be duplicated in Japan is not known now, these diplomats say, but they add that the agreements with these two countries do provide yardsticks by which American attitudes can be measured.

The public statements of ambassador John Foster Dulles, the diplomats point out, clearly indicate the Americans plan to restore full sovereignty to Japan with the peace treaty. Dulles said that in so many words while he was in Tokyo.

In addition, Dulles time and again specified that American military bases will be established or maintained in Japan after the treaty is signed only if the Japanese so desire.

Diplomats in Tokyo point out that his statement carried the clear implication that if American bases are maintained after the treaty is signed they will be maintained under conditions agreed upon in advance by the American and Japanese governments, dealing on terms of diplomatic equality.

The question of judicial powers over American servicemen based in a foreign country is a ticklish one, American authorities pointed out.

Col. Hoffman Lauds Red Cross

Former Governor Of New Jersey Thankful

Col. Harold G. Hoffman, former governor of New Jersey, is one official who has seen the Red Cross work in time of great disaster and knows its value to any community. He urges the residents of Lawrence County to get behind the Red Cross in its coming campaign and to support it to the full extent.

On May 19, 1950, disaster struck South Amboy. Col. Hoffman's home town, when 447 tons of high explosives let go in the harbor of this small city, killing 33 persons, injuring over 400 more and damaging 2,700 homes, some of them completely.

One of the first to arrive on the disaster scene to bring order out of chaos were trained Red Cross disaster workers, who were flown to the scene from various sections of the country. They stayed on the job until order was restored and everyone had been taken care of, later assisting in rebuilding the homes of those who were without the means of help themselves.

Then late in November, when a hurricane tidal wave and flood again struck the same area, the Red Cross returned to help out the needy.

Twice in the same year, the residents of South Amboy became acquainted with this great organization's love and sympathy, and their readiness to respond when no other help seemed at hand. "Everyone should give all he can to such an organization as the Red Cross," he concluded, "because you never know when you too may need their help. And their response will be immediate and generous."

Part Of Deshon Hospital Will Be Closed On May 1

BUTLER, Pa., Feb. 24—Butler civic groups fighting to keep open the entire Deshon Veterans Administration Hospital were told today their actions appear wholly unavailing. Congressman Louis E. Graham said the VA is planning to close a temporary section of the hospital May 1.

Civic groups have filed numerous protests with the Veterans Administration and also sought the assistance of Graham. If the temporary portion is closed it will reduce the hospital from 855 to 500 beds. It would mean a cut of 385 employees from the staff.

Graham said the VA told him: "The temporary buildings which we are giving up at Butler contain much wood and other materials which are not fire resistant."

PLAY SURVIVES
BOSTON. — America's oldest passion play, "Pilate's Daughter," was written 50 years ago by the Rev. Francis X. Kenzel, Redemptorist Father, while on a train trip from Maine to Boston. Since then the play has been produced more than 1,000 times and has played to more than 1,500,000 persons.

Small Drop In Enrollment At Westminster

Student enrollment at Westminster College has dropped less than six per cent since the beginning of the fall session despite unstable conditions on college campuses throughout the country as a result of the present draft situation.

Enrollment figures show the college's total enrollment now to be 1022 compared with 1085 in September, 1950—a drop of 63 students over the past five months.

A total turn-over of 133 students during the first semester was offset by the registration of 48 new students and the return to the campus of 24 former students.

Approximately three-fourths of the new students who have registered at Westminster for the new semester are men.

The six per cent loss in student enrollment at the college was attributed to two main factors—departure to enter the armed services and graduation of 21 students at mid-year.

EDENBURG

Mrs. Gover Files For President

California Woman Sends Petition

Held onto your hats, voters. Mrs. Nora E. Gover of 4236 Guardia avenue, Los Angeles, Cal., has filed for the Democratic nomination for president. Or rather she wants to file her petition in Lawrence county and nobody seems to know just what to do about it.

Mrs. Gover made the front pages of the nation a few days ago by filing in Lima, O., as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for president.

Apparently she has learned there are states east of Ohio and is now filing in Pennsylvania. Her petition is headed "Declaration of Candidacy" in which she says she was born in Texas. This is probably as good a state as any in which to be born.

She admits to sixty years of age, which seems to stomp her as an honest woman and says that for two years she worked "for the Symingtons, 505 South Arden" and is now working for herself.

Her platform is short and simple (and never mind the crack). This is what she says she favors. "A mint and each department of government in each county. Salaries for work that we now do without pay. Short term. Better work. If nominated I will accept the nomination and not withdraw and will qualify for that office if nominated and elected."

We wish the lady would expand upon that statement "salaries for work we now do without pay." Does she mean that we would be paid for playing canasta? After all that's work. And being played at night should call for overtime.

What about good citizens who take their time and energies in soliciting for worthy causes? That's work and no pay just now. You can take the list from there.

Anyhow Mrs. Gover wants to be president and wants to file her petition to Lawrence county. Or what she thinks is a petition. It is a declaration of candidacy which will probably be filed—in the drawer just below the bottom one.

NO INCREASE YET

Judges of counties which are now fifth class counties, according to the census, are still drawing sixth class county pay. That includes Lawrence county.

Sixth class county judges such as Lawrence draw $12,000 per year salary. But when the county steps up into fifth class they will receive $14,000. This will apparently occur when the census figures are certified.

Sixth class judges have been receiving a $12,000 salary for several years. In 1927 the salary was raised from $8,000 to $10,000 with no income tax paid. Some years ago all government employees were included in the income tax group and this includes judges.

In addition judges of the smaller counties are sometimes asked to serve in Pittsburgh or Philadelphia. For this service they get $20 per day plus one round trip a week fare.

Out of the $20 per day they pay their hotel and meal bills with the $20 gross being added to their income for tax purposes.

Around Hollywood

By JAMES PADGITT

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 24.—Twenty-fourth Century-Fox is going ahead with plans to put its story of a Nazi Field Marshal Rommel, "The Desert Fox," before the cameras next month despite a beef from an American official.

The lone dissent to date on the picture came from Harry G. Green, leader of the American Legion in Chicago. He asked Eric Johnston and Joseph L. Breen to use their influence to cancel production of the Rommel story.

Green said that glorification of Rommel is an insult to Americans and those who died in the African campaign.

Nunnally Johnston, producer of "Desert Fox," had no comment to make on Green's charges but said that the picture will be filmed on schedule with James Mason playing the German Field Marshal.

Studio spokesmen said Green's criticism of their prize package was one man's opinion and did not represent the official attitude of the American Legion.

The studio declares "The Desert Fox" is to be a factual story of Rommel's life that in no way glorifies the field marshal. "Rommel's limited political attitudes and his moral stature will be examined in the picture," according to the studio.

Henry Hathaway will direct the major part of the Rommel story in the Mojave Desert of California in the same area where the U. S. Tank Corps trained before the all-out campaign in Africa.

Hathaway currently is in Munich getting background shots in and around the city and elsewhere in Bavaria. For a time it was planned to film the entire picture in North Africa, using such locales as Tobruk, El Alamein, Benghazi, Tunis, Tripoli and the Cap Bon area.

Fans Getting Soft Irish film star Kieron Moore thinks American movie fans are getting soft.

Moore declared that fans in America do not rip the clothes off their screen favorites, turn over automobiles and cause riots like their English cousins.

The actor, who says he has lost more than one shirt to screaming mobs in London, made his observations after going to his first Hollywood premiere. "When I got the invitation," he told director Henry King, "I asked another actor if it was safe to go, and he thought I was crazy."

"I found out why when I got to the premiere. Instead of screaming mobs there were well-behaved fans sitting in bleachers especially built for them and applauding politely when their favorites got out of their cars and went into the theater."

Moore portrays Uriah the Hittite in "David and Bathsheba."

on the work of the organization. Dr. James A. Gillespie and Horace Bradley of the Legal Redress committee will speak briefly on the results of a conference they had recently with officials of a local plant.

Raymond McHenry will report on the housing survey.

Girl Scout Leaders Club, February 27

In the auditorium of the YWCA, the Girl Scout Leaders club will meet on Tuesday evening, February 27.

The business session begins at 7:30 o'clock, with Mrs. Clarence Shumaker in charge. An election of the nominating committee will take place.

The program consists of "The Use of Dramatics in Girl Scouting."

Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 6 of New Wilmington will present a one act play entitled, "She Takes The Cake". Troop 72, of which Mrs. William Nelson is leader, assisted by their parents, will tell how we may distinguish between spiritual, work, and prayer songs of the colored race.

Eels usually remain hidden during the day and feed at night on animals.

'U.S. Can Only Aid Nations Willing To Help Themselves'

—B. M. BARUCH

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—(INS)—Elder Statesman Bernard M. Baruch warns that America "can furnish only limited aid to others and only to those nations willing to help themselves" in trying to preserve the peace.

In the March issue of Reader's Digest, Baruch wrote: "The task of preserving peace is vast enough to enlist the resources and energies of all democratic peoples."

"Collectively the nations of western Europe do have the resources for adequate and effective defense—a greater population and a larger production of steel, coal and chemicals than Russia."

"What is needed is to translate enough of these resources into immediate military readiness."

"I appreciate how harsh a time Europeans have had. But the Soviets, whose people endured even more, have ruthlessly chosen to put military power ahead of improving living standards.

"That challenge cannot be ignored. If what is required is not done now, infinitely more will have to be given up later. Everything might be lost under the heel of a Soviet occupation."

"For almost five years, since the last war's end, the Atlantic powers have put off a choice that cannot be evaded."

Baruch's article was an expansion of one written for the Wichita (Kans.) Beacon and distributed by International News Service on Dec. 9.

DENIES FLU QUARANTINE

FORT DIX, N. J., Feb. 24.—(INS)—A spokesman at the Fort Dix military reservation denied today that the army installation had been placed under quarantine because of a flu epidemic.

He said visiting would be permitted as usual this week-end except in the post hospital.

The hospital reported 863 flu cases under treatment as of yesterday, when 108 new patients were admitted.

Officials at Fort Dix said they feared no outbreak of epidemic proportions.

President To Leave Friday For Key West

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—President Truman goes to Key West, Fla., next Friday for a vacation of at least three weeks, and Secretary of State Acheson left Friday for a two-week holiday in Bermuda.

The White House announced that Mr. Truman will transfer his entire personal staff to the Key West Naval Base, and that he will remain in Florida for "three weeks or more."

Presidential Secretary Joseph Short said the move is being made to give the president "a few hours of sunshine and swimming daily" and emphasized that Mr. Truman will continue to do his work "as usual."

The State department announced that Acheson and his wife left Washington Friday afternoon for New York, whence they left by plane for Bermuda.

A department spokesman said the secretary will be in constant touch with Washington and will fly back should any international crisis develop.

Mr. Truman at his news conference last week insisted that he had no vacation plans.

Transferring Operations
Short emphasized that the chief executive is not so much vacationing as "transferring his operations" from Washington to Key West.

He said: "The only difference will be that the president will have a few hours of sunshine and swimming during the day in place of the time usually devoted to his list of callers while in Washington."

Short added: "The president has a great deal of work to do, and will get it done as usual while in Key West."

Short said that the trip to South Florida is scheduled for a few days beyond three weeks. He said the president will then return to Washington to fill a number of official engagements.

The president will fly to Key West after lunch next Friday afternoon.

He will stay at the quarters formerly used by the commandant of the naval area on the submarine base at Key West. These are the same quarters the president has occupied with members of his staff during eight previous trips he has made to Key West during the past several years while he has occupied the White House.

The president will take key members of his staff with him, leaving others at the White House to carry on liaison work with Congress and top government departments.

The pasque flower is South Dakota's official flower.

Opposite Views On Foreign Policy Given By Senators

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 24.—(INS)—Two midwestern Senators offered sharply opposing views today of American foreign policy.

Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R) Ind., charged that the Truman foreign policy is "a distinct failure," while Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D) Ill., termed the program "sound."

Debating before some 600 students from 23 colleges at the University of Pennsylvania, Capehart accused the administration of "squandering man power and money all over the world."

Capehart said the United States is telling other nations in effect, "If you want us to fight, just send us a wire and we'll be there."

Can't Go On This Way
"We can't go on this way," Capehart said. "We must decide what we can and can't do and how far we can go."

Some of the students booed and hissed when the Indiana Senator said of Democratic policymakers: "They have refused aid to Spain, who has been fighting Communism for 25 years. Now they ask you to aid Tito."

Douglas defended American foreign policy as nothing "to be ashamed of" since it has striven "primarily for peace and good will for war only after Russia openly rejected every peace move."

He said America must deal "more delicately with Asia" than with western Europe because the United States "cannot afford to get its ground forces bogged down in the Far East, nor to pit the white and yellow races against each other."

Douglas said western Europe must be defended to keep Russia from swarming over that continent and Africa as well.

Admits "Borrowing" 23 Autos To Make Trips To Visit Girl

RIVINGTON, N. J., Feb. 24.—(INS)—Police today arrested Paul L. Barber, 23, when the youth admitted "borrowing" 23 automobiles for trips to see his girl friend.

Barber told Police Chief John J. Robinson he never kept the stolen cars, but always returned them to the spots from where they had been "borrowed."

MAY BE DEPORTED
LONDON, Feb. 24.—(INS)—The London Daily Express reported today that convicted atomic spy Dr. Klaus Fuchs probably will be deported to Germany when he finishes his maximum 14-year prison sentence in 1964.

Fuchs, convicted of feeding Anglo-American atomic secrets to Russia, was ordered deprived of his United Kingdom citizenship yesterday by the British home office.

The 39-year-old German-born naturalized British scientist was sentenced March 1, 1950, following his confession and trial.

U. N. Only Effective On Combat Levels Of War

By FRANK CONNIF
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ON THE CENTRAL KOREAN FRONT, Feb. 24.—It is one of the ironies of our time that an organization formed to promote the brave new world of peace has proven truly effective only on the combat levels of war.

The bickering and back-stabbing jockeying at Lake Success strike no echoes in that small, tense zone where men of the United Nations are meeting the enemy with the only language aggressors seem to understand, General MacArthur's compact little U. N. command is doing just dandy wherever weapons and not words are what count.

Troops of the United States, representing the overwhelming percentage of combat men tangling with the Communists, naturally resent the forensic finagling over fine spun issues back in the Long Island debating forum.

To men who daily face bullets and shells from a formidable foe, the delicate nuances of an argument over "aggression" seem just a trifle silly. They need no vote in council to tell them that the Chinese came to the rescue of the North Koreans just when the junior members of the firm rejected groggily from the ropes.

But their resentment over the bewildering oratory does not filter down to the field of battle. Even though they are carrying the brunt of the load, American troops in Korea have nothing but the deepest respect for their French, British, Dutch and Turkish allies.

Sure Know How To Fight
"If they'd just send more than token forces," goes the usual GI lament. "We'd be all right then. The guys they sent up till now sure know how to fight."

Their admiration is stoutly reciprocated. It's another freak of an eccentric age that only American commentators seem to deprecate the fighting ability of the unaware of the crimes he committed. He said:

"I'll testify in any court that this boy was an amnesia victim and didn't know what he was doing."

Quigg's conclusion seemed to satisfy police.

Detective Lt. Charles Schwelm said there is a good chance young McEwen will be permitted to return home.

RECORD BORROWING
NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—(INS)—Borrowing by business from leading New York City banks climbed to a record $6,659,000,000 in the week ended Feb. 21. This represented a gain of $4,000,000 during that period. It also was $1,659,000,000 above a year ago and a rise of $354,000,000 since the start of 1951.

Farm Roundup

Brannan Sets Up Two Goals

Record Production, Soil Conservation Being Emphasized

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(INS)—Agriculture Secretary Brannan has set up two primary mobilization goals for the nation's farmers—record production and soil conservation.

He points out that while the mobilization effort this year requires all-out production, the mobilization program may be spread out over many years.

In order to make sure the U. S. will not fumble because of strain on the soil, Brannan strongly urges that the soil be babied along so it will continue healthy.

And the only way to assure strong soil, he emphasizes, is the use of every conceivable conservation method.

Brannan says that during peacetime the necessary conservation goals could be spread over a long period of time.

But under the current threat of war, it is "imperative that we be able to keep on producing abundantly for a long time to come."

"It is even more urgent that we get about this work" of conservation. The secretary pledges all the help that the government can possibly give, such as making sure farmers get enough labor, machine parts, fertilizer and conservation subsidy payments.

"But," says Brannan, "important as these things are that the government can do for agriculture—only farmers can farm."

SCHOLARSHIP OFFERED
HARRISBURG, Feb. 24.—(INS)—One $500 scholarship was offered today by the State Council of Education to a qualified teacher seeking advanced study in education.

Applications must be filed with the council no later than May 1. The scholarship was set up through a fund established in 1928 by friends of Dr. Nathan S. Schaeffer who was superintendent of public instruction from 1893 to 1919.

Experts say that during its short history the U. S. has lost one-third of its topsoil.

Mrs. Hester Burris presided and following devotions, the evening was spent socially, with Mrs. Lottie Minor sponsoring a comical play. The hostess, assisted by Anna May Anderson, served dainty refreshments.

DRIVES ON TRACKS

GARY, Ind., Feb. 24.—(INS)—C. B. Rust, 58, of Gary, who was driving slowly early today because of the heavy fog, got out of his car to see why the road had become so bumpy.

He discovered he had been driving down the Pennsylvania railroad tracks. Before he could drive off the tracks a passenger train came along and demolished the automobile.

BOILER RUNS DRY
City firemen were called to the home of Lewis L. Lamm, of 319 East Edison avenue, at 7:45 p. m., Friday, when the boiler of the heating system ran dry. There was no fire damage, Fire Chief H. F. Steinbrink states.

About half the income of United States hospitals comes from tax funds.

Students Make Cleveland Trip

County Students In Inspection Trip At Nela Park, Friday

Nela Park, General Electric Company's lamp laboratories and lighting institute in Cleveland, was visited Friday by a group of high school science students from Mercer and Lawrence counties as guests of Pennsylvania Power Co. and G. E.

Two students from each high school, selected by their principal, made up the group to see the many new and interesting exhibits and installations at the institute. Of particular interest was the program in the auditorium where many of the latest technical advances in the application of light were shown and demonstrated. In Horizon House, the model home, the most modern methods of home lighting were presented as well as electric kitchen and laundry equipment.

Perhaps the most unusual exhibit was the sun deck where light is produced with the same properties as natural summer sunlight. A short exposure to the light in one of the deck chairs would produce a noticeable coat of tan.

Many other different displays were enjoyed by the boys.

The group traveled to Cleveland by buses and R. L. James, supervisor of electric sales for Pennsylvania Power was in charge of the tour.

Lunch was served at the institute and the group enjoyed dinner in Warren on the return trip.

Those who attended from Lawrence county were Edwin Lewis and Wm. Hauschild, New Castle: Dave Boyd and Bruce Black from New Wilmington; Richard Gwin, Glenn McKinney, Mt. Jackson; Anthony Galletta, Joseph DeRosa, Bessemer; James Kannaday, Richard Nemeth, East Brook; Roland Yacaback, Lee McNeish, Union; Jack Lowery, Lloyd Houk, Shenango; Roy Curry, Don Brenneman, Scott; Chas. Krueger, DeWayne Kanagy, Wampum; Leroy Downes, James Fleeger, Princeton; James Walczak, Walter Schenk, Ellwood City; Charles Welsh, Carl Taylor, Darlington.

G.I. Training School Program Is Facing Shutdown Says Paper

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 24.—(INS)—The Philadelphia Inquirer reported today that "the entire program of GI training schools in Pennsylvania faces a shutdown on April 1."

In a page one story, the newspaper said the purported shutdown will be caused by "the state's failure to re-inspect and grant new certifications to the 374 GI training schools in the commonwealth."

Inquirer reporter Joseph H. Trachtman wrote that "a halt in the program would automatically end subsistence payments by the Veterans Administration to the 150,000 veterans now taking courses in these schools" in Pennsylvania.

The suspension likewise would "cut off tuition payments to the schools from the same source," Trachtman said.

Fanny Crosby Film At Youth For Christ

The religious color sound film, "Songs of Fanny Crosby", featuring George Beverly Shea, nationally known gospel singer, will be presented at New Castle Youth for Christ this evening at 7:45 o'clock in the First Baptist church. The rally will be known as the "Appelmann Youth Rally" accentuating the coming city-wide revival series.

A special program of vocal music has been arranged by chairman of the Appelmann youth work, Rev. Earl Collins. Rev. F. D. Marshall, Youth for Christ leader, will be in charge of the service.

Fathers And Sons Enjoy YMCA Party

A record turnout of over 120 attended the father and son party at the YMCA last night.

William Kegel, editor of the Ellwood City Ledger, and cartoonist, entertained on paper, with a name and accompanying picture theme.

Fathers and sons then went swimming and visited the boys' department for games before a short film was shown.

Refreshments were served following the entertainment.

Red Cross Unit Meets Friday

Residential Workers Discuss 1951 Quota

Lawrence County's residential division for the 1951 Red Cross fund campaign, met Friday in the Castleton hotel to discuss progress and plans for reaching a quota set this year, more than double that of last year.

Chairman, Mrs. Roy A. Long, and assistant chairman, Mrs. Ralph Newingham handled the business and organization of the meeting.

Rev. Fr. Ralph E. Hovenkamp, chairman of the planning committee offered invocation, and then L. J. Lewis, fund campaign chairman spoke to the group concerning the increased quota for the residential division.

Following the speech by Mr. Lewis, Rev. Hovenkamp returned to explain in detail, the work of the Red Cross and elaborated on the "Mobilize for Defense" slogan, refuting the, "It can't happen here" idea.

Mrs. Louise McConnell executive secretary of the local chapter, illustrated the highlights of Red Cross work and the women were then given instructions for the campaign by Mrs. Long and Mrs. Newingham, and supplies by Mrs. Sam Frank.

Hunt Men Charged With Carving Love Symbols On Woman

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 24.—(INS)—Tulsa law enforcement officers today seek a 35-year-old police character who allegedly carved love symbols on the legs of his 6-foot, 2-inch girl friend.

The woman, 21-year-old Betty Fink, told police that her sweetheart, Carl Martell, and his companion, 32-year-old Sam Casillas, tied her up in a hotel bed early Tuesday after an all-night drinking session.

Miss Fink related that Martell used Casillas' spring-blade knife to carve the word "love" and a heart with his name inside it on one leg, and his name on the other leg.

Charges of mayhem were filed against both men yesterday. Detectives said that Casillas surrendered after charges were filed but Martell is still missing.

Detectives Jimmy Lang and Ray Jones said both Martell and Casillas are well-known skid row characters.

Today's Fashion Flash

By PHYLLIS BATTLE

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—(INS)—When jewelry designers decided to make 1951's choker necklaces more comfy, what was their solution? . . . It might as well be springs!

Richelieu, long-time creators of costume gems, today introduced the ultimate in practical pearl chokers—an expansion necklace labeled the "Hugs and Gives."

This H. & G. a throat-circler that comes in from one to five strands of pearls, is constructed with minute springs that are hidden within the core of each pearl at the back of the necklace.

The patented spring movement keeps the necklace in place a fraction of an inch under the adam's apple, and allows it to expand and contract with every leap of the larynx. The total effect, in comfort and chic, is similar to a custom-made necklace.

"Hugs and Gives," available in 11½ to 16-inch lengths, are priced to all budgets: from $2.50 to $20.

SMALL DETAILS HELP STRENGTHEN BUILDING

It does not cost much more to do the job right, yet many buildings are constructed without sufficient fastening between frame construction members to insure against joint failure. Bolt sills to the foundation at about 8-foot intervals and if bolts enter concrete blocks let them extend through two courses of blocks.

Fasten girders solidly to the supporting posts and anchor the posts to the foundation or footing. Metal pins, plates or straps are commonly used. Greater rigidity and a strong tie between roof and wall result from the use of knee braces nailed to form a triangle about two feet from the plate.

Rafters themselves should be strapped to the plates using metal strips or commercial fasteners now designed for the purpose. These details are often neglected in construction, and building failure results.

The possibility of hurricane damage is not the only hazard. Wind and snow loads can twist and warp poorly constructed buildings and the pressure of stored materials has frequently caused shifting of poorly fastened construction members.

PLOT VEGETABLE GARDEN IN ADVANCE ON PAPER

The smaller the garden area, the more necessary it is to have a definite plan plotted on paper ahead of planting time. Such a plan will assist in making the best use of the area available, and the economical purchase of seed, fertilizer and other garden supplies. Individual plans will vary according to family needs and availability of space.

The following suggestions will help home gardeners in making their garden plans:

Make the rows straight, from edge to edge of the garden, to facilitate cultivation and general care. Rectangular beds with sunken paths waste time, space and moisture.

Run the rows north and south as nearly as possible. Plants will shade one another less and, therefore, make more rapid growth.

Place tall-growing crops, like corn, pole beans and staked tomatoes on the north side so that they will not shade other plants.

Place the perennial crops, like asparagus, rhubarb and horseradish, along one side so that they will not interfere with the preparation for planting the remainder of the garden.

As far as possible arrange rows according to dates of planting. A narrow strip on one side may thus be worked up for the earliest plantings and the remainder prepared as needed.

Extension circular 287—"The Family Vegetable Garden" may be of additional help. A copy of this publication may be secured without charge, from the Agricultural Extension Office, 206 Post Office Building, New Castle.

CHILD GROWS ACCORDING TO HIS OWN PATTERN

Most parents have a picture in mind of the kind of child they are going to have long before the baby is born. At first the baby may pretty much come up to their expectations, but by the time he is six he may present many disappointments because he is so different from their dream child.

It is not that the child doesn't want to be what the parents want him to be, but he just can't help being himself. The child has to grow at his own speed and according to his own pattern.

Maybe you have pictured a thoughtful, clean, courteous boy who makes good grades in school. If you have, you may be disappointed, for children of six seldom are that way.

Satisfied and happy parents are ones who have dreams and ideals but who are able to modify them. Such parents are willing to let their child grow at his own speed and rejoice with him in each new achievement. They try to understand their child, his needs and what is taking place inside him. They are able to lend a helping hand and give the child the feeling that he is satisfactory, the feeling that is a must for healthy personality development.

OUTER PARTS OF CELERY PACKED WITH VITAMINS

Outside stalks and leaves of celery contain more of the vitamins than the rest of the stalk. Very often these parts are trimmed off and discarded.

To get the most for your money on celery, both in flavor and nutritive value, use the leaves as well as the stalks. When serving salad or raw celery stalks, you can leave on the fender inner leaves, both for decoration and added food value.

Small stalks of celery stuffed with minced ham or cream cheese add a festive touch to any meal. You can use the outer leaves and stalks of celery in poultry stuffing, soup, casserole dishes and stews.

Carrots take on a different flavor and appearance when cooked and served with celery. Here is how to prepare them: Cut carrots, enough for the family, in slivers. Wash and cut outer celery stalks in three-inch slivers, keeping the leaves. Put carrots and celery in a saucepan, add a small amount of boiling water and cook until tender. Season with salt and butter. If not using fresh carrots, cook them a short time before adding the celery.

Carrots and celery are excellent to serve with broiled fish fillets, mashed potatoes and tossed green salad.

COOKED HAM

Boiling is not the ideal way to cook ham. If you are cooking ham in water, simmer just under the boiling point, then let the ham cool in its broth to draw back moisture.

Slow baking often is more convenient than cooking in water. In baking there is no water to dilute the flavor and force out too much juice.

KNOW YOUR SPICES

Spices are the roots, bark, stems, leaves, buds, seeds, or fruit or aromatic plants which usually grow in the tropics. Actually there are sweet, spicy-sweet and hot spices, and more of the former two than the latter. Cinnamon is a sweet spice, ginger is spicy-sweet and cayenne is hot.

TIPS FOR SAVING TIME IN KITCHEN

Every minute you can save in your kitchen work gives you that much more time to spend with your family, read a book or do something to improve your home-making.

One of the best ways to save time is to arrange your kitchen equipment and supplies so they are convenient to where you will be using them. Keep everything within easy reach, have potholders near the range, and keep knives and kitchen utensils handy.

When baking, get together all the supplies and utensils you will need before you start mixing the batter or dough. No time is wasted when you follow such a procedure.

Get rid of all the unnecessary items in your kitchen. Keep supplies and equipment used most often in places that are easiest to reach. You might store the less used utensils where they don't interfere with those you use every day.

If there is space for it, arrange a business center in the kitchen. The handy center invites planning and makes it easier for you to take care of the household business. You might like to add a bulletin board which can serve as a clearing house for the family.

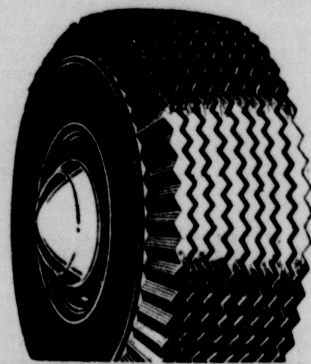

In this business center is a good place to keep your home account book. Most homemakers keep a regular home account book. Such a book is available for a small charge from the Agricultural Extension Office, 206 Post Office Bldg., New Castle. It will answer many questions during the year if kept regularly.

It is not only important to have equipment and supplies handy to where they will be used, but working surfaces must be of the correct working height if the time saved in convenience is to be well spent in actual work. Working surfaces that are not adjusted to your height can ruin your disposition and affect your posture as well. All this is reflected in your appearance before your family.

A circular on planning convenient kitchens is available upon application to the Agricultural Extension Office, 206 Post Office Bldg., New Castle.

NOT WHAT WE GIVE, BUT WHAT WE SHARE

Giving to the American Red Cross is really not giving. It's sharing.

No matter if we give blood, or time, or energies, or money, we are sharing ours with someone less fortunate. Blood for those who need transfusions, time to devote to strengthening the organization, energies to do the work necessary, money to make the work possible.

Monday, February 26, your Lawrence County chapter of the Red Cross opens a campaign for $52,000 as our share in a wonderful cause. That's about fifty cents each for every man, woman and child in the county.

"Not what we give but what we share, for the gift without the giver is bare."

Let's share in the soul satisfying work of helping others who need it. Let's share in the heart warming satisfaction that comes by helping a neighbor.

Let's make our share $52,000 in this campaign. Or a little better.

Titans Battle Upsala Tonight, Seek 19th Win Of Year

High - Scoring Quintets Clash, Stars Will Duel

Two of the nation's high scoring college fives, Upsala and Westminster, collide tonight in inter-sectional basketball at New Wilmington.

The Westminster Titans will be out to improve a sparkling 18 win, five lost record in the 8-15 p.m. main attraction. But first the Bellevue Athletic club challenges the Westminster Frosh, at 6:45 p.m.

Westminster topped the Upsala college Vikings 54-51 last season at the Upsala home station, East Orange, N. J. Since then the Vikings have improved. They've won 12 and lost five, not including last night's game at St. Francis of Loretto. Wednesday night they pulled one of the surprises of the week, whipping Temple 96-93.

See Scoring Duel

All indications point to a high-scoring duel tonight. Last National Collegiate Athletic Bureau "small college" ratings had Westminster fourth and Upsala seventh in the nation. The Titans have averaged 78.9 points in their first 23 outings. The Vikings averaged an even 77 in their first 14.

Three of the NCAB's leaders in individual scoring play here tonight, Monte Berman of Upsala has averaged over 19 points per game. Westminster's Pat King and Ed Halas average over 16.9.

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Feb. 24—Farrell high's floormen last night won the right to represent Section III in the WPIAL eliminations by pacing themselves perfectly against Aliquippa to win 46-41.

Julius McCoy led the talented Steelers to victory with 16 points in an eye-opening effort, but was well backed by Lampkins and Crosby.

Lou Horvath rallied the Quips in moments of first half play but was held in check the entire second half.

The Beaver Falls floor was rocked by competing cheering sections from the Aliquippa and Farrell schools, which more than filled the capacity of the gymnasium.

Wampum Indians Meet East Washington Tuesday

Section 23 Title Holders Ready

Dormont Floor Will Be Scene

Wampum high school's Indians are looking for a tough game when they meet the East Washington Galloping Ghosts at Dormont in the first round of the WPIAL Class B tournament Tuesday evening.

East Washington went through its section (Section 24) without a defeat in racking up its seventh straight section title. The Galloping Ghosts are playing their first year under coach Charles "Ace" Heberling, graduate of Washington and Jefferson last June.

The Section 24 winners started slowly but picked up momentum as they went along. They dropped their first five games of the exhibition schedule, including an overtime loss to Donora, before they won their first game.

The Ghosts came back later in the season, however, to bounce two of the teams that had defeated them earlier and came within two points of another turn-about. All of its losses, except its opener, were to Class A schools.

Butler Henon's Wampum Indians also dropped their first five games of the season before they raked up their first win. All of the Indians' seven non-league losses were also to Class A teams.

Forward Bill Dinsmore, leading scorer in the Washington county section for the past three years, is the Ghosts' biggest scoring threat. He is helped considerably by guard Bob Caffrey and center Bill McMurray, who are reportedly good on rebounds. Caffrey is the playmaker for the team.

One of Wampum's biggest problems, however, may be the big dormont floor. The Indians are used to playing on the small county floors throughout the season and the change to a big floor is often hard to make.

Craine Outstanding
Washington county sources say that the Ghosts are big and will probably give Caesar Craine, Wampum center, some pretty stiff competition.

Just how well Caesar has done around the boards this season is shown in his rebound record. Out of 600 rebounds recovered by the Wampum team over a period of games Caesar was responsible for 327. Caesar also led the team in recovering loose balls, offensively and defensively.

Second best rebound man on the Wampum team has been John McMillin, who recovered 91 of the 600 rebounds.

Shenango Y To Play Pittsburgh Center YMCA Team Tonight

The Vikings team is composed of players from Schuyl, Westinghouse and Allegheny high schools. The preliminary game will pit the YMCA Hi-Y team against a team from Youngstown, O.

Boosters To Play Bessemer Indies

East Brook Boosters will be home to the Bessemer Indies tonight at the Brooker floor. The Youngstown team originally scheduled for tonight cancelled their game.

Hanks Schedule Famous Clowns

Will Play Here
Saturday, March 3

The biggest basketball attraction of the year will come to New Castle Saturday night, March 3, when the world famous New York Broadway Colored Clowns will appear in an exhibition game against the undefeated Hank A. C. The game will be played on the George Washington gym beginning at 8:30 preceded by a preliminary game between the Shenango YMCA and a strong local team.

This will be the only big basketball attraction in New Castle this year, and in the Clowns there is one of the finest basketball teams in the country. In addition to playing a top notch brand of basketball they also put on a display of expert ball handling and trick shots and very spectacular plays.

The annual Green and White football game, an intra-squad affair which climaxes spring training, will be held Saturday, May 12, this spring.

HERE and THERE IN SPORTS LAND

ARCHIE MOORE, Washington, D. C., fighter, known here, "stopped" Jimmie Bivins of Cleveland in New York. Bivins was unable to answer the tenth round bell. . . . It was 39 years ago Thursday that Johnny Kilbane dethroned Abe Attel as featherweight champion in San Francisco. . . . Fish Warden Bob Betts is anxious to receive information as to when trout will arrive for stocking in county streams.

Despite high water during the past several weeks, some men have fished for suckers. Some of their cars were parked along the Shenango river at Harbor bridge. . . . PBY's will transport corn picked by more than a score sportsmen of nearby counties on an Enon Valley farm, to Albert airport, Phillipsburg, Sunday morning, according to Del Porter, Aero Game Feeding club vice president. It will be dropped to deer the same day. . . . Ne-Ca-Hi basketballers scored 10 victories and dropped 10 games in league and non-circuit games this season. . . . Gabby Hartnett, famous Cub player of a few years back, scored a 703 triple while bowling in the Windy City. . . . Seth Myers of Sharon, who contributes outdoor stories to The News, was elected president of the State Outdoor Writers association at a recent Harrisburg meeting of outdoor writers. . . . Reports state Fritz Zivich, former welterweight champion, is a candidate to succeed Lou Shiring, Pittsburgh weight champion, who resigned as chief deputy commissioner of the Pittsburgh district of the State Athletic commission. Shiring resigned because the commissioner went to Joe Holahan, Pittsburgh, instead of Shiring who served 23 years as deputy. Holahan is an intimate acquaintance of Joe Travers, Lawrence county commissioner. . . . Basketball is not the only sport which has been hit by a scandal. Baseball, football and boxing have had scandals. It is regrettable that LIU abandoned intercollegiate sports because several players were involved. When one finds a rotten apple in a barrel, he removes it to prevent contaminating the rest, but he does not throw away the rest of the apples in the barrel. Honest basketballers, by far, outnumber the few gullible players who "fell" for bribes.

FRED LITTLE, Fredonia, R. D. 2, was re-elected president of the Mercer County Fox Hunters association. Fox hunts will be held in Mercer county as follows: February 24-25, March 3-4, and March 10-11. . . . CBS will radio and televise the Ezzard Charles-Joe Walcott heavyweight title fight in Detroit March 7. . . . Johnny Jordan, Loyola coach, has been named head coach at Notre Dame. . . . Honus Wagner, who will be 77 years old today, has signed as a coach for the Pirates. . . . Ted Wilks, pitcher, has signed his St. Louis Cards contract. . . . Pitcher Jim Hearn, who has not yet signed his contract with the Giants, is at Sanford, Fla., to transport corn picked by his contract. . . . That rule which prohibits fishing for suckers in streams not stocked with trout, seems somewhat unfair. Efforts are being made to change the law. According to the law, a fisherman is banned from streams for one month although he pays for a 12-month license. It may be true that some anglers sneak some trout out of a stream while fishing for suckers. Possibly a few bass are sneaked out while some men cast for trout. . . . Bill De Lillo, tonsorialist, competed in the Girard-New Castle foot race several decades ago. He finished among the first three. . . . Dude Moore, city detective who was stricken with a heart ailment in November, is able to be outdoors for brief periods. . . . Eddie Gennoch was among those who witnessed Sugar Ray Robinson conquer Jake La Motta. . . . No reports of beaver having been caught in Lawrence county have been received.

Young Rifle Club Has Weekly Shoot

Col. Charles Young Rifle Club had its regular weekly intra-club matches at the Mahoning range Friday evening, with Richard Wynn high man with 180.

Roy McHenry was second with 176. Arrangements are being made for a match with the New Castle Rifle Club on Tuesday, March 13.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the club will be held Friday, March 16. Awards will be given out at that time to those who qualified during the past year.

Sollazzo Faces Over One Million Dollar Tax Bite

High Official Involved In Fix

By CHARLES EINHORN

NEW YORK, Feb. 24—Investigators patching together the background of Salvatore Sollazzo, alleged arch fixer in New York's big basketball scandal, found out today they are dealing with a man who the government says owes $1,128,493.57 in back income taxes, interest and penalties.

A lien for that amount, covering the years 1943 through 1947, was slapped against Sollazzo's property yesterday by the department of Internal Revenue, acting completely apart from the fix probe being conducted by District Attorney Frank S. Hogan.

Who Fixed Who?
The big question went at least temporarily unanswered. That was, how much of the amount Sollazzo was said to owe the government represented legitimate business income?

To this, revenue collector James W. Johnson replied "no comment." Imminent results were expected, meanwhile, in the New York City Police Department's self-investigation of a king-sized metropolitan college fix plot during the 1949-50 season was suppressed on orders from a high official.

Keep Luce Out
Also at hand was the comment of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, who said he is in favor of taking college basketball out of Madison Square Garden "unless they can keep the lice from corrupting the boys."

Almost simultaneously, the selection committee for the big post-season national invitation tournament at the Garden announced the first four teams to accept bids to the 1951 tourney.

The four are St. Johns, North Carolina State, Brigham Young and Arizona. Arizona is one of the teams to which three city college stars now under arrest allegedly admitted throwing a game at the garden earlier this season.

Pirates Start West Monday

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 24—(INS)—Traveling Secretary Bob Rice and 25 members of the Pittsburgh Pirates board a train from Pittsburgh early Monday for a long jaunt to San Bernardino, Calif., where the Bucs begin spring training next Wednesday.

Three players will be added to the group at Chicago and three more at Kansas City. The remainder of the squad will report to the Perris Hill Park district from their homes.

John Kobs, Michigan State's baseball coach, will have a "family" interest in his 1951 pitching staff. One of his top sophomore hurlers is his nephew, Chuck Gorman, a 6'2" right-hander.

Joe Louis Wins Bout By T.K.O. Over Andy Walker In Tenth Round

By JOE ST. AMANTI

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24—Joe Louis, moving cautiously along the comeback trail, belted Andy Walker back into oblivion on a TKO last night but the Brown Bomber still has a fight on his hands with father time.

Louis, looking lean and fit at 207 pounds, was awarded a technical kayo over the dusky Walker, California state heavyweight champ, in one minute and 49 seconds of the tenth and final round at San Francisco's Cow Palace.

Louis Lacks Steam
The crowd of 17,373 who paid $95,000 to watch Louis boomed on two occasions when the ex-world's champ had Walker helpless but lacked the steam to put him away.

In this and in his last three previous fights Louis has failed to knock his opponents out.

The end came in anti-climatic fashion with only one minute and eleven seconds of the fight remaining when Louis had Walker cornered and was belting him at will with lefts and rights.

Louis drew down something in the neighborhood of $30,000 in his most lucrative comeback bout.

Walker, eight years younger than his 36-year opponent and 13 pounds lighter at 194, managed to redden Louis' nose and raised a welt under the Bomber's left eye in the second.

Pruden Winner Over Janiro

Youngstown Boy Has Nose Broken

NEW YORK, Feb. 24—(INS)—Left-hooking Fritz Pruden, an eleven-hour substitute, was lined up for bigger things fiscally today on the strength of an impressive ten round Madison Square Garden decision over tough Tony Janiro.

Pruden, who replaced stablemate Jimmy Flood on the card last night, broke Janiro's nose and opened a cut under the Youngstown, O., fighter's left eye that required four stitches.

The Niagara, Ontario, battler weighed 147½ to Janiro's 154½. A small crowd of 4,495 paid $13.528 to see the bloody battle.

Bikesledski

SOMETHING new in winter sports equipment is utilized by this girl in a race at Kiefersfeld, Bavaria. The gadget is a combination bicycle, sled and ski and was invented by an engineer. (International)

West Germany May Get Greater Voice In Foreign Affairs

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(INS)—
Government spokesmen today said that West Germany will soon have a greater voice in her foreign affairs in a big step by Britain, France and the United States toward ending the state of war with the Bonn republic.

The officials believe that giving West Germany a foreign voice and simultaneously taking other steps to give the conquered land international equality will speed international German participation in the Atlantic pact defense force.

Diplomatic sources say the government of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer probably will announce its willingness to contribute troops to western defense by next May.

Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, commander of the new army against Communist aggression, has said that he wants "no unwilling contingents" in his international force.

It was said that defense treaty planners are already thinking of the value of German airmen in tactical air forces for the western army, if the Germans should decide to throw in their lot with the North Atlantic powers.

Diplomatic observers say that while a peace treaty would require congressional action, a "de facto" peace could be arranged simply by loosening the already liberal occupation controls on the Bonn government.

Merely Operation Of Checks Balances Of Our Government

MERCERSBURG, Pa., Feb. 24.
—(INS)—The investigation into alleged political favoritism in granting RFC loans is "merely the operation of checks and balances in our government," Sen. William Fullbright (D) Ark., said last night.

Fullbright, who heads the Senate subcommittee probing RFC dealings, included the remark in a talk on governmental procedure to students at Mercersburg Academy.

"These checks and balances between the executive and the legislative departments of our government are operating all the time," he added.

In a question and answer session later, Fullbright said if America vigorously takes over leadership of the western world, the chance of war with Russia "are less than 50-50."

Would Outlaw Transmission Of Racing News

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 24.—(INS)—The head of St. Louis police called for outlawing the interstate transmission of gambling and horse-racing news.

Unless Congress does this, President William L. L. Holzhausen of the St. Louis police board testified Friday, neither St. Louis nor any other community can stamp out gambling.

The testimony was given before the Senate Crime committee headed by Senators Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), which opened a two-day hearing in St. Louis today. Holzhausen, the first witness to appear at the open hearing, said the police department—no matter how honest, diligent and efficient it is—must work under a handicap so long as services which bring in racing news "hot off the wire" can operate.

Traces Wire Setup

Introduced in evidence was a huge map of the St. Louis area, tracing the racing-wire setup. It showed that all lines tied in with the Pioneer News Service, which operates from the Fullerton building in downtown St. Louis.

During the two-day public sessions Kefauver is expected to delve into the possible local gambling ramifications in the recent Madison Square Garden college basketball scandal in New York. Senator Kefauver said his committee is "very much interested" in the basketball "fix" developments.

The senator said his description of St. Louis as a nerve center for the multi-million dollar gambling rackets does not imply that the nation's eighth city is crime-ridden.

"From general information from my investigators, law enforcement is good in St. Louis," he asserted. Despite possible contempt citation threats, several gangsters and politicians are expected to clam up when questioned.

Two Hundred Shots Fired; No One Is Hit

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP, Mich., Feb. 24.—(INS)—Two hundred shots were fired, but nobody was hit, in a gun battle Friday between police and a berserk Oak township youth barricaded in his home.

The crazed gunman, identified by police as Joseph Thompson, 24, finally was subdued by tear gas and captured in a back bedroom of the house.

Fourteen officers from Royal Oak township, Ferndale and Oak Park fired sub-machine guns, high powered rifles and carbines in the gun fight that lasted more than an hour and attracted hundreds of spectators.

Police said Thompson returned the fire with dozens of shots from a high-powered deer rifle before he finally was brought to bay with tear gas. After the shooting subsided, Thompson was found lying on the bedroom floor.

Scene of the battle was at the home of Thompson's parents, Louis, 47, and Mary, 46, near Wyoming and Eight Mile road.

INFORMAL CHURCH WEDDING

"Please advise me on these points: (1) What kind of clothes are proper for an informal church wedding? (2) Should the bride carry a bouquet or wear a corsage? (3) How may the church be decorated? (4) How may the invitations be worded for such a wedding?"

Answer: (1) You may wear either a long afternoon dress or a street-length dress or a suit with a hat, of course.

(2) Wear a corsage with informal clothes.

(3) For an informal wedding, only the altar is decorated usually, by you, the bride. For example:

"Dear Mrs. Thomas:

"Dick and I are going to be married at St. Paul's on Wednesday, the fourteenth, at four o'clock. We want both you and Mr. Thomas to come to the church and to a small tea afterward at my home—14 West Main Street.

"We shall look forward to seeing both of you on our day.

"Affectionately,

"Helen."

Question: Is the bride supposed to supply the dresses for her attendants?

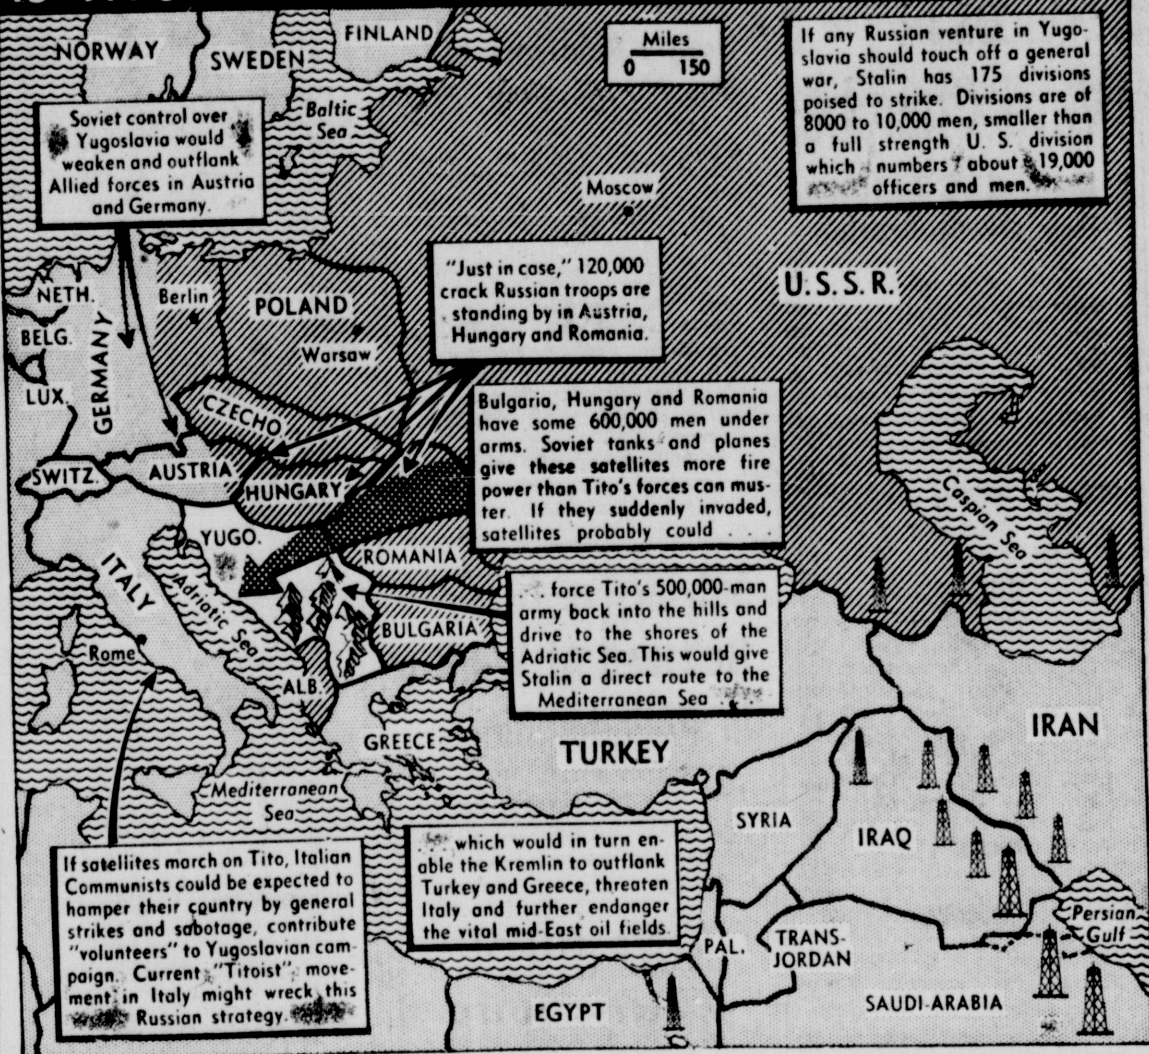

Answer: The attendants should supply their own dresses, unless the bride is wealthy and offers to do so.

IS TITO NEXT ON KREMLIN TIMETABLE?

BALKANS—The touchy Balkan situation is thrown into sharp relief by Marshal Tito's warning that any attack by Russia or her satellites on Yugoslavia might touch off World War III, and by current discussions between United States, British Commonwealth and French representatives of what joint action might be taken to forestall any such attack. The Acme Newsmag above tells the story of what might happen if Moscow should order her satellites to attack Tito this spring. Success of such a "local war" — cut from the Korean pattern—would strengthen Russia's Balkan flank, weaken the North Atlantic defense blueprints and impair the West's position in the Near East without loss of a Soviet soldier.

Home Of Ice Skating Experts

ST. PAUL, Feb. 24.—Everything in this neck of the woods is defrosting: wages, prices and people.

In fact, St. Paul is having a heat wave, a good old tropical heat wave. The temperature soared to a dizzy 38 degrees (above) today after lurking in the sub-cellar for the better part of two months.

"Very unusual weather," everyone explained the day I arrived and the temperature climbed to 16 degrees below. "It's been real cold, but it's beginning to warm up."

With the temperature way up to 38 today, residents are perspiring, freely and fanning themselves, although I have met no one yet sufficiently foolhardy to start cutting his way out of his winter woollies.

There is—and has been—a rich lottery or pool in Alaska for many years based on the second when the ice breaks up in the Yukon river.

Based On Dramatic Moment There is a similar lottery in this community based on that dramatic moment in the late spring or early summer when the oldest citizen deems it sufficiently warm to remove his snuggles for the vernal season.

It is difficult for citizens who live in this section of Minnesota to understand what all the fuss is about concerning the woman in Chicago who was found stiff as a board with a body temperature in the mid-sixties. That is so in this region. Ed's note: That is, the temperature is. St. Paul people hardly ever get stiff as a board.

The body temperature, to accommodate itself to the climate, starts dropping about half a degree per day around mid-November, and by this time of year is purring steady at around 65. It is hard to explain to a non-technical audience, except that it works on the same principle as the farm boy who lifts a calf every day until suddenly he is hefting Elmer, the bull. (Ed's note: Probably throwing it, too.)

Enjoy Long, Hard Winter But what I really started out to say back there is that St. Paul is the ice skating capital of the nation. As soon as the first hard freeze arrives, residents sew themselves into their clothes and their skates and settle down to enjoy a long, hard winter.

Ont in the far west, parents toss a kid in the saddle and let'er buck when the wea bearn is a year old. In this region, they slap skates on the tiny tot and tell him not to come home until he can cut a figure eight.

As a result, virtually every ice show in the country recruits its stars and chorus from St. Paul. Both the Ice Capades and the Ice Follies are really just St. Paul on tour. Betty Schallow and Phyllis Rebholz, stars of the Ice Follies, are graduates, summa cum laude, of St. Paul ice rinks.

Dorothy Lewis, star of the ice show at the New Yorker hotel in New York, is a local girl who made good. And the Ice Capades are owned by three St. Paul skaters, Eddie and Roy Shipstad and Oscar Johnson. And three of the stars of their show, Patti Philipp, Irma Thomas and Orrin Markhus, also bear the St. Paul brand.

Another St. Paul boy, Everett McGowan, is on tour with his own ice show, and Dorothy Franey, former national champion, is now star of the ice show at the Adolphus hotel in Dallas, way down thar in Texas.

Skating used to be fun. Now it is high finance. Any little boy in St. Paul can still grow up to be president. But it is better to be a little girl, grow up to be Sonja Henie and shovel it into the bank with a bulldozer.

First Christian Modernization Work Nears End

An extensive program of modernization costing more than $15,000 is near a satisfactory close at the First Christian church on the Public Square, it was learned today from the church pastor, Dr. G. S. Bennett.

The program of remodeling and redecorating the church was started last fall when repointing work on the many thousands of bricks in the church wall was begun. A serious condition on the west side of the building was found due to overflowing water and one section of the interior of the church had to be replastered.

Walls 30 Inches Thick Workmen were amazed to find that the outside walls of the building, which was erected in 1863, 83 years ago, were 30 inches thick. They discovered that most of the plaster was two inches thick on the interior, indicating that the building, which was put up by the Phillips brothers, at a cost of $90,000 was well made.

The original auditorium and base are 83 years old, while the annex was erected in 1911. Improvements were made in 1930 and the large $30,000 organ was installed in 1931 honoring the Phillips. Appropriate ceremonies were conducted at that time.

Exterior Gone Over The exterior of the building has been completely gone over with much repair work done on the 200 foot tall steeple and clock. The clock hands were removed and washed and the face of the clock cleaned up. The clock's face is six foot across, while the minute hand is a mere three foot long. The clock was presented to the city for its use by the church after its presentation by the Johnson family at a cost of $15,000.

At present, the church auditorium is being completely redecorated and by Palm Sunday, the work on this part should be complete. Much work in the primary and beginners rooms was done by the men of the church at a saving of several thousands of dollars in labor.

History of the church over the past quarter of a century is almost synonymous with that of Dr. Bennett who is in his 23rd year as pastor of the downtown church. He came to the city in September of 1928. He has married 1,000 couples since he came here and buried 650 individuals. The church now has 1,000 on the roll.

BOSTON.—Butchers, bakers and candlestick makers are conspicuously absent from the 1951 Massachusetts legislature, which includes representatives of nearly every other occupation.

MORAVIA

YOUNG PEOPLE'S MEETING

The mid-week meeting of the Young People's Christian Endeavor society of the Moravia Presbyterian church was held at the home of Caraline and Phillip Benson.

Mrs. Alan Anderson had charge of the program entitled "True Hearted—Whole Hearted," with Dolly McConnell assisting as song leader.

It was decided that the young people and their advisers would meet at the church Sunday evening at 7 p.m. to motor to Volant to attend the closing service of Dr. Jack Munyon.

The next mid-week meeting will be held at the home of Miss Lucy Kennedy, with Miss Virginia Benson in charge of the devotional period, on February 28.

At the close of the meeting the group was served delicious refreshments, carried out in a birthday moff since it was Phillip's 18th birthday.

There were 21 young people, present, with advisers Mrs. Blanche Snodgrass, and Mr. and Mrs. Mac Tindall.

One point that is frequently overlooked is the storage of fresh foods as well as left-overs is the refrigerator temperature. Refrigerator coldness varies with the amounts of food stored, the temperature of the food and other factors. For this reason, it is important to check the temperature inside the refrigerator regularly.

This can be done easily with a portable refrigerator thermometer. A space-saving model is designed so that it can stand on, or hang from, the shelf. Made of snowy white metal, this thermometer is designed so that the thermometric element is completely enclosed to protect it from grease. It has a round, dial-type face which shows safe storage temperature for both the refrigerator and the home freezer.
